MEXIC FORTUNES TO BE SNATCHED FROM AMERICANS

All the Other Foreigners Who Grew Rich Under Diaz Will Also Fare Badly.

MADERO REGIME IS BENT ON CRUSHING MONOPOLIES

It Is Alleged That, Under Diaz, Mexico Was Sold Out Piecemeal, and That This Wrong Will Be Righted Under New Regime--All Special Privileges to Be Abolished.

Chihuahua, Mexico, June 15.—Reforms immediately affecting millions of dollars worth of American property in Mexico were announced tonight.

Governor Abram Gonzales said under the new regime foreign concessions which might be considered monopolies would not be extended or renewed and every legal effort would be made to restrict foreign monopolies. Chihuahua is one of the richest states in minerals and timber and is practically controlled by Americans, British and German interests. The Americans are the largest holders.

Their Grief Well Founded.

"All Americans who grieved at the downfall of the Diaz administration will find that their grief was well-founded," said Governor Gonzales. "We do not intend to take away the riches of any foreigner who legally holds them, but we realize that under the Diaz system the granting of concessions, with their ruinous payments of large sums of money to Mexican politicians was a virtual selling out of Mexico.

"For years Mexico has been exploited by foreigners until the great body of the people have nothing. We were on the verge of becoming a nation of paupers. Now all special privileges shall cease if we can accomplish it.

No More Selling Out of Mexico.

"We hope to maintain the friendliest relations with Americans and we shall invite foreign capital to come in, but there will be no more selling out of the country by piecemeal. We will invite competition, not monopoly. If American capital wishes to come here it must be prepared to compete with Mexican capital.

"What is known as the company stores in towns where many men are employed will be abolished. This will mean that working people will have the benefit of buying from whom they please. Of course we do not intend to question the right of concessions legally held, but we shall refuse to encourage or extend unjust ones.

Foreigners Will Be Hard Hit.

"Undoubtedly the foreigners, including Americans who profited so greatly under the Diaz system, will be hard hit by the new era, but the determination to upbuild Mexico and to improve the conditions of her poverty-stricken people will, I am sure, receive the hearty support of the great body of the people of the United States."

Governor Gonzales stated that beginning today the export duty on cattle shipped into the United States would be removed. It also has been decided by the government to allow General Orozco to bring his insurrecto army into the city with their arms. The city, while the insurrectos are here will be protected by a commission of public order with which the federals will have nothing to do.

Grasshoppers Attack Cotton.

New Orleans, June 15.—According to a prominent cotton planter, who has just returned here after a two week's trip through various parts of the cotton belt, grasshoppers in large quantities are beginning to attack the cotton crop in sections of Louisiana and Mississippi.

NEAR BEER ZONE CAUSES A ROW

Two Reports Go Before Council Next Monday Afternoon.

Police Committee of Council, After Voting to Reduce Near Beer Zone, Reconsiders Its Action and Split Results--Citizens Protest Against Saloons.

"If the near beer saloons objected to are not cut out, we may have commission government."

"If this town becomes too hidebound in its laws and a legitimate business is discriminated against by cutting out saloons, we may have commission government."

This, by the way of introduction to a story of a meeting of the police committee of council yesterday afternoon, when it was decided to reduce the near beer zone, and when the committee reconsidered its action and "split." There will be a majority report for no change in the beer zone, and a minority report for a change of the zone.

Appealed to the Committee.

There appeared before the committee several preachers and ladies, who protested against negro beer saloons in certain sections of the city; and saloon men who did not want their business interfered with.

Of course the first quoted remark came from some of those protesting against the saloons, and the second quoted remark from some of the saloon men.

The committee, however, did not hear these side remarks, and if they had, what was said would probably not have had any effect on the action taken.

Preachers and women objected to saloons on West Mitchell street west of the viaduct.

Citizens objected to negro saloons on Marietta street west of Simpson.

Still other citizens objected to saloons on Peters street west of the junction of Walker street.

Talks were made by Rev. J. M. Brittain, of the Temple Baptist church; Dr. A. C. Ward, and a representative of the Frank E. Block factory against the saloons near the corner of Mitchell and Elliott streets.

The other objections were made by several citizens who wanted the saloons removed.

Several saloon men appeared and said they did not think saloons should be put out of business unless it was shown there had been disorder.

Wanted Zone Reduced.

The chairman of the committee, Councilman Humphrey, was of the opinion that the beer zone should be reduced.

The committee was divided, and when votes were taken on the reductions proposed, there was a tie in each case, and the chairman decided the question by voting for a reduction.

Alderman Warren and Councilman McClelland voted for a reduction, and Alderman Van Dyke and Councilman Johnston voted against a reduction.

The first vote of the committee made the following changes or reductions in the beer zone:

On Decatur street out as far as Fort street, instead of the railroad crossing; on Marietta street as far as Jones avenue, instead of North avenue; on West Mitchell street as far as Madison avenue, instead of Elliott street; on Peters street as far as Walker street, instead of Fechter's alley.

Then the Committee "Flopped."

But the first action of the committee did not stand, for there was a reconsideration, and Councilman McClelland changed his vote on the ground that the cutting out of the saloons would cost the city about $9,000.

Alderman Warren gave notice that he would make a minority report, and he said that the chief of police had recommended the reduction of the beer zone, and he would ask council to vote that way.

As there was no longer a tie, the chairman did not vote either way, but he will not join in the minority report.

The committee granted all applications for near beer licenses with the

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE'S LOVER

Ball Player Arthur Brown Is Shot to Death.

Actor John McStea Finds Mrs. McStea in Room With Brown and Tragedy Follows---Brown Was Shot Four Times by the Angry Husband.

Albany, N. Y., June 15.—First Baseman Arthur Brown, of the Albany State Baseball League team, died tonight in a hospital from four bullet wounds received, he told the police, at the hands of John V. McStea, a New Orleans actor. The shooting occurred at a rooming house on Pearl street, where McStea said he found his wife in an apartment with Brown.

Found Together by Husband.

McStea arrived here tonight and proceeded directly to the house and asked to see "Mrs. Brown." In a statement made after the shooting, he said he heard his wife's voice upstairs and rushed to the hall above. There, he declared, he was brutally attacked by Brown.

Getting the worst of the struggle, McStea says he drew his revolver and fired at Brown. Four shots took effect, two in the abdomen, one in the arm, another in the leg, and a fifth went wild.

Brown sank to the floor, where he was found an instant later by an officer who heard the shots. McStea was placed under arrest and his wife held as a witness.

PICTURE OF GIRL IN HAND F. H. MURPHY TRIES SUICIDE

With the picture of a young lady clutched in his hand, Fred H. Murphy, 20 years old, formerly of Louisville, Ga., but now assistant steward of the Battle House, Mobile, Ala., attempted suicide by drinking iodine in his room at the Terminal hotel yesterday afternoon.

A hurry call for the Grady hospital ambulance was sent in at 4:45 o'clock, not long after the young man had taken the poison. He was soon on the operating table of the hospital, and it is reported that he will recover.

Murphy came to Atlanta Monday, after a visit to his family in Louisville. He came to see relatives and friends, one of whom is said to be a young lady for whom he had a high regard, and whose picture he held in his hand. Mr. Murphy had registered at the hotel under the assumed name of Finley H. Morgan, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The attempted suicide took place in his room, where he had been for almost an hour after a visit downstairs, at which time he is thought to have purchased the iodine. He was found lying beneath the telephone, and his condition was discovered because the receiver was off the hook.

During his stupor from the drug he constantly muttered several telephone numbers. One of them was called by the clerk and proved to be the office of C. J. Haden, in the Grant building, where Miss Lillian Butler, an aunt of Mr. Murphy by marriage, is employed. She hurried at once to the hospital and identified him.

The second number, it is stated, reached a young lady who has known Mr. Murphy for several years. His relatives refused to give her name.

From Miss Butler it was learned that Mr. Murphy had been in ill health for several years. Three years ago he was a student at the Georgia Military Academy, when he suffered an unusually severe attack of appendicitis. From this he never fully recovered, and has since had a nervous breakdown.

Miss Butler stated that he was one of the hardest working boys she had ever known, and that he persisted in accepting his Mobile position, despite the objections of his family. All of this has combined to render him, perhaps, unconscious of what he was doing, she thinks, as he is said to be a young man of strict moral standards and a high sense of honor.

The young lady, whose picture Mr. Murphy had clutched in his hand, is said to have refused to marry him two years ago.

219 CONVICTS ESCAPE IN YEAR

Members of Prison Commission Amazed by Figures.

One Hundred and Twenty Convicts Still at Large--Chairman Davison Writes Letter to the Wardens, Telling Them They Will Be Held Responsible.

In the future, wardens in Georgia will be held personally responsible for escapes from convict camps, and, if satisfactory explanations cannot be made to the prison commission, they are sure to lose their jobs.

Statistics just compiled show that 219 convicts, not including misdemeanors, escaped for the twelve months ending May 31, and 120 of these are still at liberty. Amazed by these figures, Chairman Davison has written a sharp letter to wardens in all the camps in the state, warning them that a strict accounting will be made in the future. This letter is as follows:

"To the Warden in Charge—We have just seen statistical statement of our secretary, which shows that for the twelve months ending May 31, the various camps of the state had 219 escapes. It also shows that 114 were recaptured. However, some fifteen of the latter were convicts who escaped under the old contract system, showing that there are 120 convicts still at large who escaped from the camps during the past year, an average of ten net escapes per month. The above does not include misdemeanors. We are thoroughly convinced that a very large number of these escapes is traceable directly to negligence or carelessness on the part of the warden and guards, and the commission is determined to hereafter hold every warden to a strict accountability for the safe keeping of the convicts in his charge. The indiscriminate 'trusty' business is contrary to the rules of this commission, and 'leaving convicts at camp without guard' is altogether wrong and is considered nothing less than gross negligence.

"We take this method of notifying each and every warden in the state, and they in turn must so notify their deputy wardens that convicts in their charge must be more safely guarded and held, and where they consider escapes from the camp are too numerous or caused by evident neglect they will deem it sufficient cause for the removal of the warden. We sincerely trust that each warden will fully realize and appreciate the responsibility that is resting upon him and assist the commission in seeing that the convicts are more safely held.

"We trust that you will give this your immediate and constant attention. Respectfully,

"THE PRISON COMMISSION OF GEORGIA."

LOAN COMPANY PUT IN HANDS OF A RECEIVER

Peter F. Clarke Appointed to Care For the Affairs of Commercial Loan and Trust.

LOSSES OF CREDITORS MORE THAN $250,000

President of Company Does Not Believe Smith Got Away With Much Ready Money---Rumored That Smith Had Taken His Life--He Spoke of Committing Suicide Several Days Ago.

Peter F. Clarke, cashier of the Germania Trust Company, was yesterday appointed receiver of the Commercial Loan and Trust Company, 29½ Whitehall street, of which J. Wylie Smith is the missing secretary and treasurer.

The appointment was made at the instance of W. F. Brandt, Dr. B. E. Dewberry and James Stallings, three large creditors of the company.

When asked about his appointment last night, Mr. Clarke stated that he had not heard of it until that moment. He could not state positively whether he would accept, nor could he say anything about the affairs of the company and subsequent procedure in the case.

Plan to Save From Wreckage.

The panic of Wednesday among the creditors of the company, and those who claim that they have lost various sums, subsided to some extent yesterday and they began to plan courses of action to save what they could of wrecked fortunes and vanished savings. Besides the appointment of a receiver for the company, attorneys were employed by the different persons interested, and the affair commences to assume a legal aspect.

So far as is known nothing has been heard of Mr. Smith. It is stated on reliable authority that he was seen in the city as late as 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. No explanation is given of why he was not apprehended at that time.

A strenuous search of the city has been made for him, both in the residence and business sections, and in various lodging houses. Many contend that he has not left the city. Mrs. Smith remains at their home, 249 Formwalt street, and it is said will engage in active defense of her husband when necessary.

The office of the company, 29½ Whitehall street, room 4, was again thronged with investors Thursday, and one fight was reported between two men. Mrs. Minnie R. Coulter and W. F. Brandt, both of whom are losers in the company, were said to have engaged in a difficulty over some mortgages on Mrs. Coulter's East Lake property. They took occasion to deny this last night to The Constitution.

The alleged losses in the company steadily increased Thursday. It is said that the total will possibly reach $300,000, but conservative persons declare that a large part of this is interest compounded at an exorbitant rate, and that the principal, even with legal interest, is much less.

Some of the Losses.

Among the various losses reported were Mrs. Marie Bohr, $7,000; Arthur Kitchens, $10,000; Judge Simmons, $23,000; a Mrs. Dunn, $10,000; Dick Morris,

MONEY MONOPOLY GREAT MONOPOLY

So Woodrow Wilson Tells the Democrats of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 15.—Speaker Champ Clark, of the national house of representatives, and Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, possible democratic candidates for the presidency next year, tonight addressed the largest democratic mass meeting held in central Pennsylvania in years. The gathering had been arranged as the closing event of the meeting to organize the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Clubs.

Both speakers took present political conditions as their theme, discussing the recent democratic triumphs and urging renewed efforts in 1912. Pennsylvania was told to fall into line with neighbors on her four borders which went democratic last year.

Governor Wilson, in his speech, referred to banking reforms, and said:

"The plain fact is that the control of credit is dangerously concentrated in this country. The money resources of the country are now at the command of small groups of capitalists, who wish to keep the economic development of the country under their own eye and guidance. The great monopoly in this country is the money monopoly. So long as that exists our old and individual energy of development are out of the question.

"Our ssytem of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men who, even if their action be honest and intended for the public interest, are necessarily concentrated upon the great undertakings which their own money is involved and who necessarily, by every other reason of their own limitations, chill and check and destroy genuine economic freedom. This is the greatest question of all, and to this statesmen must address themselves with an earnest determination to serve the long future and the true liberties of men."

CHURCH ALLIED TO SUGAR TRUST?

Relations of Mormon Leaders to Combine to Be Probed.

Washington, June 15.—How the sugar interests combined in first one form and then another and how the American Sugar Refining Company achieved power in the sugar world was the theme of the story to which the house sugar investigating committee listened today.

In point of interest, that story was rivalled in the day's proceedings only by the refusal of the committee to excuse Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church from responding to the subpoena to testify before the committee. He must appear next week.

By far the most important witness before the committee today was Lowell M. Palmer, director of the American Sugar Refining Company from 1899 to 1905, and head of its traffic department for years preceding that.

To Buy Outside Refineries.

At the outset of his testimony, Representative Madison, of Kansas, who conducted the examination, introduced as a basis of his questions, a page from the minute books of the company's board of directors. It bore the date of September, 1898, and its paramount feature was the authorization of a committee to buy outside refineries. The page read:

"On motion, a special committee, consisting of the president, vice-president and Mr. Thomas were appointed to fix the price of raw sugar; they were authorized in their discretion to make the price of granulated not less than three-eighths above the price of centrifugals of 96 degree test, other refined sugars to correspond. They were authorized and empowered to purchase for account of the company or hold all or any portion of outside refineries at Undertakers of Georgia entertain their friends at barbecue at White City.

$7,000; Dr. B. E. Dewberry, $15,000; Deputy Sheriff Bob Devours, $1,000 Deputy Sheriff J. L. Coogler, $350; J. W. Stallings, $1,500.

It is claimed that even the members of Smith's own family were not exempt. His sister is said to have lent him $5,000 and to have let the interest accumulate for several years, drawing only small sums now and then.

Another statement is that Smith's mother, Mrs. Emma A. Smith, has had her name forged to a number of papers of various kinds. Mrs. Smith lives in College Park.

In addition to the name of W. H. Bowen, of West End, who stated that his forged name appeared as notary on several papers, it is said that W. D. Calhoun has had his signature copied in the same way.

A friend of Smith, who has known him well for many years, declared that he was one of the best penmen that he had ever seen, and that he could copy a signature remarkably well. He stated that he had seen him do this.

Smith's rate of interest on money that he borrowed in his high finance deals is said to have been 60 per cent a year, or 5 per cent a month. Attracting the attention of every visitor in the office was a white placard on the wall:

"FORGET IT—60 PER CENT! TA-TA."

Will Reach $250,000.

Frank M. Myers, Jr., president of the company, stated Thursday night that from what he had heard during the day he thought the irregularities of Smith would total $250,000.

"I do not think Smith got away with much ready money. An investigation shows that he secured $1,000 from one person about one week ago. He may also have secured other small sums recently.

"When I taxed him with being short last Tuesday and asked him what he had done with the money, he said that the interest he had been paying had wiped out everything, and I believe this to be the case.

"I am a loser to the extent of between $6,000 and $7,000, practically everything I had.

"As I stated before, I have known Smith for years and trusted him implicitly. He was a man of good habits and had no extravagances that I knew of."

It developed Thursday that a number of persons well known socially—several women among the number—had financial dealings with Smith.

Whereabouts of Smith.

Rumor had it Thursday that Smith had taken his life. This could not be traced to any source. He is said to have remarked to a friend Tuesday that there was but one thing left for him to do, and that was to jump into the river. He was urged to think of his wife and baby, and he promised to reconsider his first determination.

Little seems to be known of Smith, although he was a prominent Mason and former master of a lodge in College Park. In the business part of the city the query: "Who is Smith?" was heard on many sides.

As one man tersely put it:

"Plenty of people knew him, but no one wants to admit it now."

JENKINS MAKES FIRST STATEMENT

Says Slander Suit Against Jackson Will Be Pressed.

In his first statement since the trial of Renfroe Jackson in Judge Ridley's court some days ago, J. M. Jenkins, who swore out the warrant against Mr. Jackson for carrying concealed weapons, denies that the custody of young Phillip Greene is the bone of contention in the case, and declares that he will fight the matter to an end at the next trial of Mr. Jackson, who was bound over.

"All of this is wrong," said Mr. Jenkins in his offices in the Austell building, "and it will be fully shown at the trial. There is more back of it than that, which Mr. Jackson will not make public, but which will come out at the proper time. Everything I have done has been with the consent of the Greenes."

Phillip Greene denied indignantly that he was living off the bounty of Mr. Jenkins, or that the allegations of his brother-in-law were true. He showed a business contract between Mr. Jenkins and himself which explains his connection there, and also receipts for the motorcycle which he paid for with his own money.

"As for the automobile, I have often driven Mr. Jackson's, too. I want to deny absolutely the charges that have been made."

The suit for slander in the sum of $10,000 which Mr. Jenkins states that he will enter against Mr. Jackson, will probably be instituted this week, by Attorney T. B. Higdon. J. Randall Walker, of Valdosta, has also been engaged by Mr. Jenkins and the case promises to be a legal battle which will rival the spectacular features in interest.

An important conference is being held at the Wesley Memorial Church, Joel T. Daves, presiding elder.

1,232 ADDITIONS FOR METHODISTS

The Total Membership of the Atlanta District Is 18,249.

A statistical report introduced yesterday at the Atlanta district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church now in session at the Wesley Memorial church, showed that 1,232 additions to membership by certificate have been made during the past six months, and 351 by profession of faith. Allowing for transferred members, the net increase for the half year was 1,127. This makes the total membership of the Atlanta district 18,249. During the past six months 88 infants have been baptized.

A license to preach was granted to W. W. Edwards, and he, together with Walter W. Watkins and G. H. Turner, were recommended to the conference for admission on trial.

Among the distinguished visitors from other districts were, Rev. I. C. Jenkins, of Jacksonville; Dr. J. D. Hammond, of Nashville, and the Rev. Nath Thompson, of Walesca, Ga. Dr. Steele, Dr. George E. Rosser and Dr. C. E. Dowman were introduced to the conference. Addresses on educational subjects were delivered by Dr. Walker Lewis and Rev. Nath Thompson.

The financial report showed that the total assessment for the maintenance of preachers and officers this year is $42,425, of which $18,887 has already been paid in.

The remainder of the day was largely taken up with the passing of the characters of local preachers and other matters of a routine nature.

The sessions on Friday will be devoted to hearing the reports of special committees. The following subjects will be discussed: Missions, The Spiritual State of the Church, Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues, Conference Records, Temperance and Financial Systems.

BELL HOUSE BOYS TO GIVE BIG BARBECUE, JULY 1ST

Men may come and men may go, but once a Bell House Boy, always a Bell House Boy.

Which is merely another way of saying that if once a man acquires the Bell house habit, it clings to him like the interest on a note. He may marry or he may move to other parts, but his memory is ever reverting to a period of his life when Mrs. Emma Bell's waffles warmed the cockles of his heart of a morning; and the chances are that once in a while, no matter how fortunately he may be situated, he heaves a soulful sigh and wishes to goodness he could return to the old days long enough for just one more meal with the old bunch. Rumor even has it that more than one brief quarrel between newly wedded young folk has been directly traceable to the Bell house coffee. It usually happened thuswise:

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Golightly are seated at breakfast. Jack has had a brief session with a few friends the night previous, and is feeling sort of how-come-you-so. The morning paper is spread out before him, but nothing in the news seems to interest him. Absent-mindedly he tastes the coffee. A thick gloom settles down on the dainty little menage.

"Say, Dolly, for heaven's sake, why don't you get a cook who can make coffee? Now Mrs. Bell——"

But Jack gets no further. Dolly lets down the flood gates and it costs young Golightly a box of Huyler's to square matters.

Tradition has it that one absent-minded young man polished off two dinners one night in the space of an hour. He is still pointed to with pride. He had finished one substantial meal and was seated out on the front porch smoking.

"Hi, there, Emmy," said one of his friends. "Better hurry if you want dinner."

And "Emmy," either to show his gameness or because he was woolgathering, got away with a second meal.

No, gentle reader, this is no "ad" for the Bell house. It needs none. It is an institution known and beloved of all. It couldn't be advertised any more than it has. So don't beguile yourself into the hope that you may soon be admitted into its sacred circle. You will have to be passed on, put on the waiting list for an indefinite period, and then if you are real good, maybe—yes, maybe, you may become a Bell house boy!

Big Barbecue July 1.

All of which is by way of preface to the fact that the Bell house boys, young and old, past and present, are going to give a barbecue at "Cap" Joyner's farm, near Marietta, July 1, at which time the prodigals will return for a brief spell and partake of the fatted calf, the plethoric pig and other good things.

"Cap" Joyner is one of the original Bell house boys, and when the idea was suggested he took to it like a house a-fire. He is now busily engaged in making preparations, and intends that this shall be his chef d'euvre—the crowning glory of his career as a barbecue cook.

A committee on arrangements has been appointed, consisting of T. J. Lyons, chairman; Lauren Foreman and Jim Goodrum, and they will be glad to hear from all former Bell house boarders at the earliest possible moment.

The Bell house has now some seventy boarders, but it is hoped that fully 150 guests will be present.

Bell house boys number men in every walk of life, from bankers, worth millions, down to newspaper men and publicity agents. Possibly the nestor of the present regime—one who has seen them come and go, marry, have children and become grandfathers, is Charles E. Currier, who has been a Bell house fixture for thirty years. Others who formerly adorned its front porch in years gone by are: Preston Arkwright, Harvey Johnson, Isham Daniel, now dead; Percy Adams, Fulton Colville, Tom Paine, Tom Peeples, Dick Palmer, Dr. W. S. Elkin and Sims Bray.

The arrangement committee is particularly desirous of having it announced that Mrs. Bell will be out of the city on the day of the barbecue, and it doesn't make much difference what happens!

$1,000,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE

Four Blocks Swept in St. Louis. Caused by Locomotive Sparks.

St. Louis, June 15.—Losses conservatively estimated at more than $1,000,000 were sustained in a fire that raged for hours today in a manufacturing district bordering for four blocks, the terminal railroad yards in the southwestern part of the city. The plants of the Huttig Sash and Door Company, Fathman & Miller Planing Mill Company, Missouri Stair Company, Koken Iron Works (a subsidiary of the American Bridge Company), and the Mound City Box Company, were practically wiped out.

The fire is believed to have started in the Huttig plant from a spark from a locomotive.

The tenants of more than fifty flats and dwellings left their domiciles carrying all they could of their possessions when it was thought their homes were doomed. The exodus was found later to have been unnecessary, as veering winds carried the flames in another direction.

FAIR FOR FRIDAY SAYS THE WEATHER PROPHET

Thursday Was Moderately Warm and Night Was Cool.

Fair for Friday and Friday night, is the prophesy of the weather man.

THE GOPHER FELT LONELY.

Thursday was not oppressively warm, and the night was cool.

"My, my," said the Gopher, "these Atlanta men are the timid ones, all right! Here I've been parading all over town with my coat off, and not a man has followed my example. I really believe I'm the only male creature in the city who was game to go out in my shirt sleeves. If there were others, I didn't see 'em!"

HIRAM CORSON TAKEN BY DEATH

Ithaca, N. Y., June 15.—(Special.)—Cornell University mourns today the death of Hiram Corson, Emeritus professor of English literature, writer, poet and known on both sides of the Atlantic as a friend and interpreter of Browning and an authority on Shakespeare.

Professor Corson died at noon at his residence, Sascadilla Cottage, after an illness of several months.

He was in his 83d year. His only child, Dr. Eugene Corson, of Atlanta, and his wife were at his bedside.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been planned, but they will undoubtedly be held in Sage Chapel at Cornell University. Professor Corson was one of a distinguished group of men which allied themselves with Cornell University at the time or shortly after its founding. He will be remembered as one of Cornell's greatest literary critics and scholars. His first connection with the university was in 1870, when he was given the chair of rhetoric and oratory. He continued in active service until 1903, when he retired as Emeritus professor of English literature. Throughout his service on the faculty he was at the head of the English department.

WOMAN IS FORCED TO BARE RECORD

Sobbing, Mrs. Ford Tells of Relations With Cooke Before the Latter's Wife.

Cincinnati Ohio, June 15.—Mrs. Jeannette Stewart-Ford is in a hospital tonight attempting to recover from the ordeal of her cross-examination today in the trial of Edgar S. Cooke, accused of embezzling $22,000 from the Big Four railway.

Forced to bare her past within the hearing of Mrs. Cooke, the woman who helped lead Cooke, Warriner and other Big Four officials astray, collapsed utterly. While clasping her 6-year-old daughter in her arms she was forced to admit the child was born out of wedlock.

Mrs. Ford sobbed out "that is my child and Cooke's," as the child was brought into the court room.

Almost at the outset of her cross-examination Attorney Charles W. Baker, for the defense, led Mrs. Ford back to her earlier career, and the name of Frank Comstock, who preceded Warriner as local treasurer of the Big Four, again was brought into the trial.

"Who told you Comstock was short?" asked Baker.

"Cooke told me."

"How well did you know Comstock?"

"Well, a bit more than friendly."

"Isn't it true that you and Comstock went on a two weeks' spree, and that while on it he told you of his shortage?"

"Maybe he did."

"This has brought on a relapse that may prove fatal to Mrs. Ford," said her physician.

To spare her further suffering, attorneys for the state and defense agreed as to the admission of certain letters and telegrams and then announced her cross-examination and re-questioning had been finished.

The state tomorrow will introduce 26 account books, which, it is asserted, will show how much money Warriner took from the Big Four.

An Automobile Accident
AND WHAT IT COST THE ÆTNA LIFE

William Porter, of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Erickson, Perkins & Co., was returning to New York from his country home on May 22d with a party of friends. Just outside of Paterson, New Jersey, in avoiding a driverless horse and cart his automobile ran into a ditch and upset. His friends escaped serious injury, but Mr. Porter was crushed under the machine and died June 1st.

On Feb. 5, 1908, Mr. Porter bought a $25,000 Accumulative Accident Policy of the ÆTNA LIFE, on which he paid four annual premiums of $125. Under the ten per cent. yearly ACCUMULATION FEATURE the insurance increased to $32,500.

On Oct. 22, 1910, he bought a second Accumulative Accident Policy for $25,000, paying a single premium of $125.

So for $625 the ÆTNA LIFE on June 2d paid $57,500. Weekly indemnity and surgical operation fees added $1,107 more, making $58,607 in all.

$58,607 for $250
Annual Premium

How can an automobilist with any business foresight go a day longer without Accident Insurance? The ÆTNA LIFE has paid over $16,000,000 because of accidents.

FROM COTTON PLANT ROOTS SPLENDID CROP IS GROWING

Moultrie, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Judge T. H. Parker, ordinary of this county, in addition to being a good lawyer and expert politician, is some farmer. Early last fall he decided he would experiment in preserving the roots of his cotton by throwing a layer of sand upon them, and when danger of killing frosts had passed this spring breaking the dirt away. The result has been that he will reap a rich harvest and prove that the experiment is a decided success.

Today he was exhibiting a stalk of this cotton to a gathering of farmers, and it clearly shows where the old stalk died last fall, around this dead portion sprouts to the number of five or six appearing with an exceedingly healthy growth.

The plant has ninety-six well developed bolls, squares and blooms, and doubtless had it been left to grow and mature would have added a great deal more fruit. Judge Parker says that three-fourths of the plants preserved from last year sprouted, and his field looks fine.

Shall Branch Offices Pay?

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The Postal Telegraph Company has raised the point that the branch offices are not liable for municipal license, and by refusing to pay the Macon license tax has laid the foundation for a point that will be decided by the supreme court. The certiorari from the recorder's court was taken today. It is claimed that the ordinance imposing a license is unconstitutional, because it levies a tax on interstate commerce. The case will be of interest to every city in Georgia where the Postal has an office.

Valdosta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A. J. Sherley, of Kissimmee, Fla., in company with a 17-year-old girl whom he is said to have eloped with from the Florida town, was arrested on a Georgia Southern and Florida train at Adel this morning, and brought back to Valdosta this afternoon.

The couple reached this city on a late train last night and registered as father and daughter at one of the hotels. Afterwards a telephone message was received by the chief of police from a Florida officer in pursuit of the couple, and they were kept under surveillance. No warrants had arrived for their detention and the couple boarded a northbound train before the Florida officer reached the city.

Upon his arrival here the chief of police at Adel was wired to arrest the couple there. Sherley is a middle-aged man and is said to have a wife and family. The girl with him is a member of one of the best families in Osceola county, Florida, and is very pretty and intelligent. Her parents are expected to reach here tonight.

BRAND IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

In Event Smith Is Elected to Senate---Political Rumor Is Being Discussed.

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Judge Charles H. Brand, of the western circuit, is a candidate for governor of Georgia in the event that Hon. Hoke Smith is elected to the United States senate and the place is to be filled by another election. This is a possible turn of Georgia politics which is being discussed.

Judge Brand tonight stated to the newspaper representatives when asked concerning the rumor that he might get into the race, that he has received letters from friends—"partial friends" he put it—urging him to allow the use of his name, pledging their support and expressing the belief that his conduct as judge having been vigorous and now well known to the state, that this will be powerfully in his favor.

Judge Brand stated that he had replied to a number in effect that he had a position which requires much thought and work and he has his hands full; that the time will be too short to get before the people and that he has not considered the proposition; however, from twenty-five or thirty counties have come letters to the judge and he has been forced to consider the possibility of such a step.

There are prominent citizens from all sections of the state in attendance on the meeting of the trustees of the university and the State College of Agriculture and they are interested in the possibility of Judge Brand's entry into state politics.

State and County Tax Books now open. Make your returns early and avoid the rush.

IS CITY'S BEER REAL OR NIGH?

Hotly Contested Fight On in Dawson---Case Hinges on Alcohol Percentage.

Dawson, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—In the court room here Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock Judge Worrill will take up for hearing the petitions for injunction recently instituted by a number of well-known citizens against the near beer saloons for the purpose of having them permanently closed as being nuisances.

Temporary injunctions were granted about two weeks ago under which these places of business were temporarily closed, and all sales of near beer enjoined until the further order of the court. There are six of these saloons in this place, and the proprietors are preparing to make vigorous defenses to the pending court proceedings, and several hundred witnesses are expected to give evidence on the hearing of these cases.

This will doubtless prove to be one of the most notable legal contests in this section in many years, and the final result is awaited with much interest. It is understood that both sides have had some of the beer from each of the saloons analyzed by expert chemists, and the plaintiffs will insist that under the analysis furnished them, this beverage contains more than 4 per cent of alcohol. On the other hand, the defendants are claiming that the analysis of the beer which they have had made by three eminent chemists will show that there is less than 4 per cent of alcohol in the same.

GULF REFINING CO. TANKS DESTROYED

Valdosta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The large tanks of the Gulf Refining Company in this city were burned by a spectacular and dangerous fire which started a little after 8 o'clock tonight. Two large tanks filled with oil and gasoline went up in smoke while a tank car with several thousand gallons of gasoline spouted a stream of fire until finally burned out.

The fire department was unable to do more than protect surrounding property, as the stream of water had no effect on the burning gasoline. The plants of the Valdosta Cooperage Company and the South Georgia Buggy Company were threatened. The fear of explosion kept the bystanders from going near the scene.

Sues Southern Railway.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Mrs. S. R. Williams, of Cork, Butts county, has filed suit in the city court against the Southern Railway for damages in the sum of $10,000 for injuries received by her in Macon on the night of January 24, when she alighted from the train at the depot and stepped into an excavation.

Sand Is Condemned.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A little relief was afforded the building and paving stagnation this afternoon when Chairman Williams, of the board of health, who recently condemned all sources of sand supply, agreed to let the contractors haul sand taken from the river bed above the sewer outfalls, and from Fourth and Church streets. The largest sand deposit has been banned, however, because it is said to be a filter for the sewerage, and is infected with bacteria.

Too Dry for Corn.

Benevolence, Ga., June 15.—(Special.) The farmers in this section are very much alarmed over the continued drouth. Corn is nearly ruined, and unless it rains within the next few days the cotton crop will be cut off considerably.

To Incorporate Benevolence.

Benevolence, Ga., June 15.—(Special.) P. E. Keese and B. F. Turner are placing material on the ground preparatory to the erection of three brick stores, which are to be ready for business by September 1. HEN LAYS FIFTEEN EGGS DURING PAST FIVE DAYS

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Policeman William Brittian, of the Athens department, has a hen which in the past five days has laid fifteen eggs. In addition, she has a brood of chickens only two weeks out of the eggs, and daily performs her motherly duties to them.

The nest has been watched, and the owner is certain that the freak hen has been literally and actually laying three eggs each day since the family moved to their present cottage six days ago.

If You Had a Farm And Home Given To You Would You Accept It?

It would depend, perhaps. If it was in the barren sands of the plains, or the worthless pine lands of the swamps, it would be a terrible price to pay to even live there with naught but death and taxes to face! Yet such places are being Promoted. Beware!

There are thousands of rich, fertile acres in the South, but the best you will find withheld from the schemes of the Promoters.

The old Southern planter is reluctant to see his broad estate cut up and commercialized. But there are some who have heeded the call of the soil and have accepted the will of modern progress. Let us send you the story of

ROME INDORSES COMMISSION PRINCIPLE.

Sentiment for commission government in Rome, Ga., is in a formative state relatively paralleling conditions in Atlanta. A tentative charter has been drawn up by a committee composed of three members of the city council, three from the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, and three citizens.

The significance, for certain people in Atlanta, of the Rome plan is that it embodies the commission principle.

Here is a synopsis of the Rome charter provisions, as taken from a recent dispatch to The Constitution:

Under the proposed charter as drawn there is to be a mayor and four councilmen, each to serve five years, and so arranged that one member of council or the mayor will be elected each year. The mayor is to receive a salary of $5,000, and is to be the executive head of every department of the city. If the charter is adopted, the first mayor will be elected in April, 1912, and the first four councilmen in April, 1913.

The new mayor will devote all his time to the duties of his office, and provision is made for the recall and referendum, when asked for by 30 per cent of the registered voters.

Mayor Winn, not caring for explicit commission government, has outlined a charter revision that embodies the commission principle. He would abolish the boards, which are doomed as soon as the people get a shot at them. He would have a council of ten members, one from each ward, but elected from the city-at-large, and an administrative council of five members, each in charge of one city department, and each giving his whole time to the city.

We do not know that Atlanta is in favor of Mayor Winn's solution. There are indications that the people weary of compromise, and want to go to commission government direct. We do know that whatever happens, the people are not going to stand for board oligarchy or for any of the clumsy expedients that have long enough kept alive lost motion and indirectness in city government.

Members of council, reported to be framing charter revision as an alternative to commission rule, would do well to bear these facts in mind. They can verify them, if they talk with enough people.

The people will decide, in the last analysis. And, as The Constitution has pointed out, neither council nor anyone else can stand between the voters of Atlanta and a full, unhampered and final expression upon the sort of charter we will adopt for this city.

CONVENTION OF ROAD AUTHORITIES.

The Georgia Federation of Road Authorities, one of the most important bodies in the state, has been meeting in its third annual convention in Albany. The place of meeting was well chosen, for the reason that the roads of Dougherty county are, in many instances, models of the sort of thoroughfares the attending commissioners ought to encourage in their respective counties. And road-building sentiment in the county is militant.

Each succeeding year these road builders have gathered has witnessed an accession of sentiment for road building, and a phenomenal increase in good-road mileage in Georgia. Starting with the placing of the convicts on the public roads, and gathering impetus with The Constitution's successive good roads' campaigns, Georgia has been transformed from a state mildly interested in good roads to a state in which the cause of highway improvement is an almost paramount one—certainly, its appeal is universal.

These county commissioners who meet each year have great personal influence in crystallizing and making effective the propaganda for good roads throughout the state. Their attitude largely affects their constituents. If they are indifferent or inclined to advocate a niggardly policy, hope must be found in some other elements in the county. If they are aggressive for road improvement, and preach the cause without ceasing, it will not be long before they have made doubters converts and converts enthusiasts.

The county commissioners in south Georgia, it should be said as a matter of record, have set the remainder of the state an example in enterprise and public spirit. They have simply refused to let their communities go to sleep, or keep on sleeping. Nearly all of them live wires, they have communicated their energy to their neighbors, with results that are written in roadway improvements that gridiron the wiregrass.

Their federation into a compact body is also of much benefit to the cause of good roads throughout the state.

THE RURAL PHONE ADVANCES.

Current reports received by electrical supply houses and telephone companies in Atlanta, and elsewhere, indicate that the rural telephone is increasing in popularity with a speed comparable only to the universal conquests of good roads—and the progressiveness underlying both improvements spring from the same source.

A gratifying feature is that Georgia is gradually becoming one of the banner states in the south where the rural phone is concerned. The counties in which the germ is already planted have increased their lines in a heavy ratio. Counties that never previously paid any attention to the propaganda are putting in systems, and anxiously writing for information regarding cost and feasibility in open country of varying topography.

The farmer with a phone in his house has eliminated nine-tenths of the traditional rural isolation. The world is at his elbow. He can talk with his neighbor a mile away or his merchant at the county seat, or he can even get in touch with his relatives or his business connections in cities a thousand miles away.

His wife and daughters are no longer dependent upon the infrequent and uncertain facilities for promoting social intercourse. They can get in immediate touch with their neighbors, plan quick parties, or summon the doctor without that loss of time often fatal in dangerous cases of illness. On the business side, the farmer stands in his own home and learns whether it will be profitable to make the trip to town to dispose of his cotton or other products. He orders his repair parts for broken farm machinery with a minimum of delay, and he has, above all, that vitalizing consciousness of being in actual touch with the heartbeat of civilization.

The beauty of the thing is that this transformation is being effected at an expense, to the individual, of less than the proceeds from one bale of cotton. Surely, the rural phone is one of the most merciful and practical miracles of twentieth century science.

MACON'S "TASTING" DILEMMA.

They're trying to put the lid on in Macon, so far as the prohibition law goes. And it doesn't take the seventh son of a seventh son to realize the dimensions of the job—in Macon.

Tigers and suspected tigers are being haled before the recorder in bundled and assorted lots. Their wares must be sampled to determine an answer to that question that made Dr. Harvey Wiley lose flesh: "What is whisky?" As if Macon at large didn't know!

But at any rate, it is considered essential to subject each specimen to the palate-test. And somebody must provide the palate. Up to date, some of the police officials and high privates have offered themselves as sacrifices on the altar of patriotism.

But—they're begging, with tears in their eyes, for relief. Several times the beverage has been—well, abominable. Then again, the taster has tasted not wisely, but too well—and you know the penalty of that sort of enthusiasm.

So it has at last come to the pass of securing a husky, trained, enduring and indurated official "taster."

Do you want the job? Well, hurry up. There's no telling when some patriot, with more zeal than self-preservation, will beat you to it.

EARLY CLOSING ON SATURDAY.

The early Saturday afternoon store-closing movement, a perennial feature of Atlanta's summer, has already reached sufficient strength to justify the hope that it will be very generally agreed to.

More than three-score women's organizations of the city not only have indorsed it, but have gone the length of binding their members to do no shopping after 1 p. m. on Saturday for the months of July and August, during which term the early closing feature is to apply.

The movement is to be commended from an economic as well as a humanitarian standpoint. Atlanta has, perhaps, the most lenient summer climate of any southern city. But the two midsummer months can not, in the nature of things, be otherwise than trying on resistance and vitality. Letting employees off for Saturday afternoons means that they will come back to work Monday freshened and fortified for the work of the week.

It is to be hoped the early closing movement will be made unanimous. Its principles are essentially to the interest of both employer and employee.

CHILDREN'S HOUR AT LIBRARY CONTINUES FOR THREE WEEKS

All of Atlanta's children who frequent Carnegie library on Friday afternoon will be delighted to know that "the children's hour" will be continued for three more weeks.

The little folk will assemble at 4 o'clock each Friday, as usual, and Miss Henriette Masseling, the gifted "story-teller," will make them acquainted with the bird friends of popular nature authors.

The red-headed woodpecker, pretty Robin Red Breast, the partridge and others of the feathered flock will be introduced through the medium of the stories, and, as customary, the story hour program will be supplemented by a collection of books by the best nature writers. Within the pleasing covers the children will find delightful stories of wild life and adventure.

These books will be placed on the bulletin board, and, to add to the interest, a series of life-size pictures in color of most of the southern song birds will be shown also on the bulletin board.

The program for the stories as arranged by Miss Masseling is as follows:
June 16—(1) "Legend of the Red-headed Woodpecker;" (2) "Scraggles."
June 23.—(1) "How the Robin's Breast Became Red;" (2) "Lord of the Air."
June 30.—(1) "Legend of the Partridge;" (2) "Red Ruff."

DR. AND MRS. PICKARD ENJOY 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage was celebrated tonight by the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William Lowndes Pickard. The congregation of the First Baptist church, of which Dr. Pickard is pastor, tendered them a reception at the pastor's home from 9 to 11 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Pickard were married in the First Baptist church in Albany, Ga., June 15 a quarter of a century ago. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. M. B. Wharton, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monegomery. Mrs. Pickard was Miss Florence M. Willingham, daughter of Colonel Thomas Henry Willingham and Mrs. Cecilia Willingham, of Albany. Both Dr. and Mrs. Pickard are authors and have published a number of books that are widely read in the north and west.

Dr. Pickard took his academic course in Newnan and his master's degree at Mercer university. His theological degree he received at the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville. The State university of Alabama conferred upon him the degree of doctor of divinity when he was 27 years of age, and he was at that time the youngest doctor of divinity in America. A year ago Mercer university conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. Six years after graduating from the theological seminary he was called back to Louisville to the Broadway Baptist church, one of the strongest churches in the south. After several years there he was called to the First Baptist church of Cleveland, one of the strongest in America. After six years in Cleveland he went to the First Baptist church of Lynchburg, Va. He has been in charge of the First Baptist church of Savannah for the last five years.

Talks About Atlanta

The Latest Freaks.
(From The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune.)
Atlanta wants more animals for its zoo. Why not send down to Macon and capture some of the capital removal freaks.

Not a Good Bank.
(From The Pensacola (Fla.) Journal.)
The Atlanta woman who was operated on and had three dimes taken from her stomach no doubt is of the opinion that the stomach is not a good savings bank.

Natural Increases.
(From Charleston News and Courier.)
We are informed that increases in population in Atlanta "are natural." Well, they are unnatural in the best American families, from all that we can gather.

(From The Anderson, S. C., Mail.)
You can never tell what may happen. In Atlanta the other day they actually convicted a man of selling liquor.

Want Republicans, Too.
(From The Knoxville, Tenn., Tribune.)
Atlanta will make a bid for the next national democratic convention to be held in that city. Why should not the national republican convention also be held south?

A Big Town.
(From The Madison Advertiser.)
Atlanta is a big town. It is a live town; it is a hustling town; it is an up-to-date town; it is every thing you want in the shape of a city. She is the coming great city of the south, and we are downright proud of her as a Georgia city.

A Gentle Knock.
(From The Madison Advertiser.)
The Atlanta weather man is a huge joke. When he says it is going to be hot it turns cold; and when he prophesies cold weather, balmy breezes come up from the south. If he predicts fair weather it promptly rains. This salaried man is not only a joke, but he is fast becoming a freak. It may not be his fault; and if it isn't he certainly has more ill luck than any man we know.

Must Spend Her Coin.
(From The Americus Times-Recorder.)
Six dollars per crate is being paid in Atlanta for wormy peachlets of the Florida vintage. But Atlanta must spend her coin in some way.

Commission Government.
(From The Tampa Tribune.)
Atlanta, like all progressive cities, is agitating commission government.

The Remedy.
(From The Tampa Tribune.)
An Atlanta preacher has announced that he will not tolerate sleeping in his church. Perhaps it would be a good idea for him to preach awakening sermons.

Always Tooting.
(From The Savannah Press.)
Although there are large conventions of musicians in Atlanta there is no perceptible increase in the amount of blowing in and about that city.—Spartanburg Herald.
Every man, woman and child blows his own horn in Atlanta from sunrise to the setting. Even the dogs bark with the Atlanta spirit and when cats and roosters crow there, they, also, add a note or two to the general music.

Worth Emulation.
(From The Valdosta Times.)
Atlanta's new hotel is to be built out of material made in Atlanta from top to bottom. That "Atlanta spirit" is worthy of emulation.

Wants a Square Meal.
(From the Decatur New Era.)
While we are talking about that million-dollar hotel, will some one kindly tell us where we can get a square meal for a dime?

Took Time by the Forelock.

An Atlanta man took time by the forelock to knock his wife down. He used the clock.

Ticket to Atlanta.
(From The Monroe Tribune.)
Still Baltimore is not making strenuous preparation to entertain the 1912 National Convention. She may have to purchase an excursion ticket to Atlanta for that.

Likes Progress.
(From The Newnan News.)
Atlanta seems to be overdoing the thing in the way of erecting skyscrapers. Almost every day a new building is announced for that city. The latest enterprise on foot is the erection of a mammoth hotel. Go ahead, Atlanta, we like to see any town grow!

Self-Helpful.
(From The Lexington Echo.)
Atlanta proposes to build herself a million-dollar hotel all by herself. Glad to know the Gate City has gotten to be so self-helpful.

Very Embarrassing.
(From Gainesville (Tex.) Register.)
"The skirt divided against itself must fall," says The Atlanta Constitution. Now, if that event took place on a public street, would it not create a very embarrassing situation for the wearer?

Gossip at the Capitol

Comptroller Wright has declined to receive the returns of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, because the franchise was decreased $240,000 from last year. The road returned $270,000 for improvements, but as the decrease in franchise made the returns about $3,220,000, or the same as last year, the comptroller refused to accept them. A compromise may be reached without the necessity of arbitration.

A charter has been issued to the United Homes of America, a mutual accident and health insurance company, with headquarters in Athens. The incorporators are F. M. Cooper, Jackson; J. C. Cooper, Union county; J. F. Cooper, Statham; L. E. Cooper, Athens; J. R. Jones, Jr., Athens. It has no capital stock.

Representative W. W. Wilson, of Gwinnett county, was in Atlanta yesterday, and says he is preparing a secret ballot bill to be introduced at the coming session. He favors a modification of the Australian ballot system.

DR. LOVETT ADDRESSES VALDOSTA CONFERENCE

Splendid Reports Are Made by Committees---Young Ministers Licensed.

Moultrie, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The Methodist conference for the Valdosta district adjourned this afternoon after being in session since Monday evening, the deliberations of the conference being presided over by Presiding Elder J. A. Harmon, of Valdosta.

Most of the time of the conference this morning was devoted to the reading of reports by committees. Andrew's college, at Cuthbert, was voted $515. The sum of $3,000 was appropriated to pay the balance due on the district parsonage at Valdosta. Rev. J. A. Smith, agent of the South Georgia Orphans' Home, at Macon, addressed the conference in behalf of this home. The home was given $200. Quite a number of applicants for license to preach were passed upon and granted, while several were refused.

Dr. W. C. Lovett, editor of The Wesleyan Christian Advocate, delivered a strong and impressive sermon to a vast concourse on "The Gospel Ministry."

ALABAMA PYTHIANS WIN OVER NEGROES

Blacks Must Discontinue Using Name and Emblems in the State of Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—The Alabama supreme court decided, in effect, today that the negro Pythians of Alabama must discontinue using the name, and also the banners, ensigns, emblems and mottoes of the caucasion Pythians grand lodge of Alabama. The proceedings were initiated in the chancery court of Montgomery.

FAVORS EXTENDING STATE ROAD TO THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

Editor Constitution: There is no question but Mr. Sessions has well expressed a great needed improvement, in his claim for a state highway from Tennessee through Atlanta to tide water at Savannah. However, I agree with your editorial that such an asset as the state road should never be sold by our state. Rather, I favor the extension of that railroad to a connection with an arm of the sea, that will give the state of Georgia the power of controlling rates of interstate freight through its own railway and its connections with tide-water shipping on the sea coast. Every trunk line railway in America, as far as I can recall, is in a measure obliged to earn an income on our unfair capitalization. Any railway without dock privileges cannot exert independence in the carrying of traffic, nor can the boats compete for freight when denied railroad connections at the wharves.

Georgia needs the state railway from Chattanooga to the sea, with wharf privileges, and, like an individual owner of advancing real estate, she ought to hold property that is rapidly increasing in value.

Mr. Sessions is right in his view of the need of a perfectly-constructed highway, especially from Atlanta to Savannah. Automobiles constantly travel this route from city to city, often going miles out of the straight line blazed by Sherman on his memorable march.

If the state of Georgia is not yet ready to build state macadam roads for the cheaper hauling of farm produce, connecting her greatest cities and advancing the economic conditions of the state, each county can and should promptly take up the work. We should have by 1912 a survey approved by competent civil engineers from Atlanta to Savannah. Every surviving soldier who marched over this route will want to ride in an automobile over the red hills he so vividly remembers.

The children and grandchildren of these veterans of the union army will grow more and more desirous year by year to visit the scenes of the war between the states.

We Americans, at great expense, avail ourselves of every opportunity to visit the battlefields of Europe, where the scenes of action relate to the far past; here we have convenient the locality where one of the greatest of the world's tragedies, never to be forgotten, was enacted.

Let us avail ourselves of every advantage, economically and socially, arising from the situation, increase enormously to the wealth of the state, by constructing the great highway over the line of Sherman's march from Atlanta to the sea.

ONLY NEGLECT AND ABUSE REWARD OF WORK OF YEARS

Declaring that years of hard work for her husband, H. T. O'Shields, had brought her only neglect and abuse, Mrs. Mattie Y. O'Shields has filed petition in the superior court asking as amendment to other petitions that O'Shields be restrained from selling his property until the question of alimony has been settled.

She says that she worked hard for O'Shields, helped him to earn what he has and "even worked in the field for him like a slave," while often, "owing to his coming home drunk" she was required to undress him in that condition.

Despite all these things, she says, he neglected her, gave his attention to others, and when he bought an automobile she was never allowed to ride in it but once, though he often took a Mrs. Maud Jackson to ride in the machine.

He even forced her to move out of her home on Crew street, she says, telling her that he had sold the place to Mrs. Jackson. He told her, she says, that if she did not move he would throw her things out, and she was compelled to get a wagon and haul what few things she had to her sister's house, where she is still living, while O'Shields resides in the house which he claims to have sold to the "Jackson woman."

Mrs. O'Shields says further that she got $60 from her mother's estate, and that O'Shields forced her to give the money to him, and that he would take all the money that she made through her cow and chickens, and he would not even provide stovewood for her to cook his meals with, she being forced to go out and cut it herself.

On top of all this, according to the petition, she was induced by fraud to sign an agreement concerning her alimony. A man named Riley, employed at the time by Hewlet & Dennis, told her that unless she signed the paper she would not get anything, and she, not knowing about these things, did so. The attorneys were not responsible, says Mrs. O'Shields, and discharged Riley as soon as they learned of the matter.

Mrs. O'Shields asked that O'Shields be enjoined from changing in any way the status of his property until the question of permanent alimony is settled.

Judge Pendleton signed a temporary injunction and set the case for hearing on Saturday morning.

F. L. Harralson and R. J. Jordan are Mrs. O'Shields' attorneys.

MR. AND MRS. DORSEY ENJOY 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Last evening Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Dorsey celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary at their lovely home on Hill street, inviting several hundred people to an elegant reception from 9 till 12 o'clock. The house and grounds presented a most beautiful and brilliant scene.

In the house, where Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey received their guests, the lower floor was thrown into one, white crash covering the floors.

The several hundred presents, very elegant and rich in design, were here displayed. Brass candlesticks with red candles cast a roseate glow in this room. Across the hall in the parlor, where Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey received the congratulations and good wishes of their guests, the color scheme was pink and green.

Mrs. Dorsey was gowned in a real lace role over messaline and elaborately trimmed in dewdrop lace, which formed a panel down the front and adorned the low-cut corsage. Silver roses completed this elegant toilet, exquisite in every detail.

The different members of the family assisted in receiving. Miss Ida Dorsey wore a white lace and Miss Annie B. Dorsey light blue crepe de chine with a touch of pink and silver trimming. Mrs. Henry Buesse wore black messaline; Mrs. Alice Adams, white brocade satin with pearl trimming; Mrs. John Henderson, white lace over blue; Mrs. Bonner, white satin, and Miss Alice Keene Briggs, cream silk. Mrs. Hugh Rowe served punch and wore white marquisette over green. Mrs. Fred Morris wore white green over lace. Many beautifully gowned women were present.

This happy occasion was characterized with elegance and artistic taste. An unusual feature and quite a notable event was four generations being present. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey's hospitality was never more lavish or delightful, nor has there ever been a more beautiful reception given in Athens.

EVERY TURN IS BANKED ON SAVANNAH COURSE

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—With the banking of every turn on the Grand Prize course for both the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races Thanksgiving week the Savannah Automobile Club is going out after world's records.

"You will see the fastest time for that length road race, or any other race, made here Thanksgiving Day and the Tuesday before," declares President Harvey Granger, of the Savannah Automobile Club. "Nazarro's record of seventy-four miles an hour on the French course and even the last Indianapolis speedway record of seventy-four miles an hour, made by Harroun for five hundred miles, is going to be broken. We have plenty of time to prepare for these races and we intend to make the course the fastest in the world."

President Granger declares most emphatically that every turn of the course will be banked. He believes this alone will make the course from three to four miles faster. The banking of the turn with an angle of ninety degrees at Dale avenue and Water's road, just at the grand stand is going to make the races a great deal more thrilling for the spectators. The cars is passing the stands during the coming races will be making twice the time they did before. This may sound startling, but the fact is that with a deep banked turn by the stands the cars will not lose much speed in making the twist.

FEWER MARRIAGES IN JUNE THAN ANY MONTH OF YEAR

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Ordinary Wiley, of Bibb county, has pointed out the fallacy of the June bride superstition by producing his records, which show that there are fewer marriages in June than in any other month of the year.

So far, there have been only seven marriages here this month; but, for that matter, the marriage market in this county has been greatly "off" the whole year.

After Graduating Exercises a Dinner Will Be Enjoyed at the University Club.

Immediately after the graduation exercises of the Atlanta Law School at the Grand opera house next Monday night, the faculty will be the guests of the senior class at the annual banquet to be held at the University Club. An excellent toast list has been arranged.

The musical program of the graduation exercises has been arranged by Professor Kurt Mueller. The address to the class will be delivered by Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, and the valedictory address by E. Zachry Arnold. These will be followed by the conferring of degrees and delivery of diplomas by the dean of the school.

T. H. SIMMONS JOINS E. P. ANSLEY'S FORCES

Mr. Simmons Made Enviable Record While With Glover Realty Company.

T. H. Simmons, one of the city's best-known young real estate men, has joined the sales force of the Edwin P. Ansley Company, and is now located in this company's office on the second floor of the Forsyth building.

For almost two years past Mr. Simmons has been connected with the Charles P. Glover Realty Company in the capacity of secretary and salesman. It was during the first few weeks of his stay with this company that he established a record for the city, so far as anyone knows, by putting through eighteen deals in a little less than two weeks. During the whole of his stay with the Glover Company, Mr. Simmons' successes were pronounced, and in securing him Mr. Ansley feels that he has made quite an acquisition to his staff of salesmen.

Tents and other adjuncts of a camp life have been sent on and will be in readiness for the soldier boys when they reach St. Simons Monday morning.

Rev. Rowlett to Preach.—Rev. John W. Rowlett, the Unitarian minister, will deliver an address on "The Passing of the Gods, or the Glory of Infidelity" in two installments. The first part will be delivered on Sunday at 11 o'clock and the second part on the following Sunday at the same hour. Dr. Rowlett will attempt to show that every advancement that has been made in the world has started with the minority, the heretic; that every man who has risen above his fellowmen has done so by virtue of his heresy; that doubt and infidelity are ever the first steps toward progress, and that ancient creeds must go and old gods must pass away that new and better ones may come. These two services will be the last that this church will hold before taking its summer vacation of two months.

LUMBER MARKET UNSATISFACTORY

Labor Conditions Have Reached the Limit of Endurance.

June Meeting of Georgia-Florida Sawmill Association Held at Atlantic Beach, Fla.---Disposition to Settle Differences With the Railroads.

Tifton, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Lumber market conditions are very unsatisfactory, except for shingles, lath, staves and the lower grades of flooring; labor conditions, already at the limit of endurance, are growing worse; there is no antagonism between the lumber manufacturers and the railroads, but a disposition on both sides to amicably adjust any differences that may arise. These, with the unanimous passage of resolutions of regret at the retiring of H. H. Tift, president, and William B. Stillwell, vice president, who have been nestors of the association; the unanimous re-election of Secretary Harrell; the election of Arthur G. Cummer, of Jacksonville, as treasurer, and the direction that the office of secretary be moved from Tifton to Jacksonville, at the option of the president, were the principal events at the June meeting of the Georgia-Florida Saw Mill Association, which convened at the Continental hotel, Atlantic Beach, Fla., with a large attendance.

Proposed Rate Advance.

The special committee to which was referred the proposed advance in freight rates to lower Ohio river crossings, reported that they had agreed to recommend to the regular meeting of the association that they would agree to the proposed advance provided this section was not discriminated against. In other words, any advance in rates from the Georgia-Florida Association territory, must be a portion of a general advance from all other lumber manufacturing points. It is not known whether any other woods than yellow pine would be affected.

Report was received and agreed to and committee continued.

This was regarded as indicating that the saw mill people and railroads were disposed to consult on matters of mutual interest, and make concessions where the situation warranted, and that any feelings of antagonism that might have existed between the railroads and yellow pine manufacturers had disappeared. In view of the antagonistic feeling between the government and the railroads, into which politics has been allowed to enter so largely, the conciliatory spirit of the saw mill men was regarded as indicating the coming of an era of sanity and conservatism.

To Investigate Labor Conditions.

A committee of five consisting of J. B. Conrad, chairman; F. E. Waymer and C. E. Melton, of Florida; H. M. Graham and T. S. Prince, of Georgia, was appointed to investigate labor conditions in the two states and confer with authorities of the different towns and counties in which saw mills are located requesting a more rigid enforcement of the vagrancy laws. The Georgia law will be investigated to see if it can be improved.

The rather startling statement was made that there are from 100 to 200 idle negroes in nearly every town where a saw mill is located, and that in Jacksonville there are nearly 3,000 loafing on the streets or around the barrooms, supported by women.

Market conditions as reported by members, were not satisfactory, Most of the business offered is for quick delivery, and for this better prices are obtained. For laths, shingles and staves and o. 1 and No. 2 common flooring, prices are advancing. Prospects for local demand is better than ever.

The next meeting will be held at Atlantic Beach, Fla., July 17.

HIGHER EDUCATION AID TO MATRIMONY

Wellesley Girls to Get Their Diplomas and Then Take Husbands.

Boston, June 15.—The higher education of women is proving a distinct success as the first step to matrimony at Wellesley college, according to the record of marriages of the class of 1911. Each member of the senior class is required on her honor to answer "engaged" or "not engaged" to her name.

The results thus far show that Harvard, Amherst, Williams, Princeton, Bowdoin and Columbia hold first honor in successfully storming the Wellesley girls' hearts.

Among the engagements announced are the following:

Miss Gladys Platten, New York, to Arthur Craig, Princeton, '77.

Miss Gladys Best, Brooklyn, to Alexander Clinton, Chase, Brooklyn.

Miss L. Blanche Phillips, Longport, N. J., to George B. Burnett, Amherst, '10.

Miss Janet Periles to Alexander L. Strowse, Columbia university.

Miss Eva A. Pierce, Riverside, Ill., to Henry M. Shreve, Salem.

Miss Ellen D. Langanecker, Pittsburg, to Ralph Kamand, also of Pittsburg.

Professor O. N. Smith, of Castle Heights school, Lebanon, Tenn., is in the city for a few days in the interest of his school, one of the high grade preparatory schools for boys in middle Tennessee. Professor Smith is a genial man and very popular with his students. He says Atlanta is a great city and he is particularly struck with the busy rush of trade and other evidences of Atlanta's progressive spirit.

Professor Smith has a number of Georgia boys at Castle Heights school and says he expects to invade the state for more. He likes the Georgia boy.

Costliest Pulpit in Country.

New York, June 15.—The trustees of the cathedral of St. John, the Divine, have accepted a plan for the pulpit of that edifice submitted by Mrs. Russell Sage as a memorial to Bishop Potter. It will be the handsomest and the most costly pulpit in the country, being built of stone elaborately carved and in keeping with the general architecture of the cathedral. Mrs. Sage is not an Episcopalian, but is a parishioner of the Reformed church.

FROM $2 A POUND TO 15 CENTS FIRST BALE OF '11 COTTON DROPS

New York, June 15.—A bale of cotton that sold at auction a few days ago in Houston, Texas, for $2 a pound brought only 15 cents a pound today—less than the spot price—on the steps of the New York Cotton Exchange. In Houston the bale brought $1,015 and here $75. It will next be sold in Liverpool and the proceeds of all three sales will go to charity. The bale was pressed from the first cotton of the new crop and the difference in price is purely sentimental. It is understood that the Commercial Club of San Benito, Texas, where the cotton was grown, will trace it to England and, after the last sale, will have it woven into suits for King George, President Taft and the governor general of Canada.

MIRRORS TO MAKE WOMEN FACE THE FRONT OF THE CAR

Greeley, Col., June 15.—The management of the street car system here contemplates the establishment of a novel method to prevent women from alighting from street cars backward. Mirrors will be placed on each car platform in such a manner as to make it necessary for one looking in them to face the front of the car. It is believed that the natural tendency of the fair sex to look at themselves in mirrors will bring about the desired results.

ABOUT TO BE SHOT BY BANDITS, COL. MORELOS DIRECTED FIRING

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—Revealing today for the first time the details of the execution of Colonel Morelos by the rebels at Culiacan, Diego Redo, the exiled governor of Sinaloa, pictured the slain federal commander as a gallant victim of fate, who died a few minutes before a pardon arrived.

According to Redo, a spirit of revenge harbored by some of the vicious rebel chieftains at Culiacan caused them to violate a pledge to safeguard the lives of Morelos and of his lieutenants, Major del Coral.

"There was no false bravery in Colonel Morelos," said Redo.

"He permitted the bandits to blindfold his eyes and waited for the volley. There was some delay, the squad assigned to execute him was unused to such a scene. Colonel Morelos knowing there was some confusion, raised his hand and removed the bandage.

"'There is no necessity for making a mistake here,' he said to the commanding officer. 'Order the crowd away, select a certain number of men as your firing squad and then direct them to fire as you drop your saber. Why should my body be filled full of bullets by indiscriminate firing when one, or three, or six will do the work?'

"Having so instructed the officer, Colonel Morelos dropped the bandage over his eyes again, placed his two hands upon his breast and said 'I'm ready.' A moment later came the order from headquarters for the preservation of Colonel Morelos' life. It was too late. Two days before he was shot Colonel Morelos had been granted the great cross of the first military order. Only four men had been accorded such honor. Colonel Morelos never knew he had been so honored."

HIS WIFE COLD, HUSBAND SAYS

Mrs. Edith Russell Gambier, Formerly of Atlanta, in a Sensational Suit.

New York, June 15.—(Special.)—The testimony of Mrs. Hannah P. Adams, of Belfast, Maine, was filed in the supreme court today in behalf of Edward Victor Gambier, cashier of the Merchants' Exchange National bank, in a suit brought by his wife, Edith Russell Gambier, for separation on the ground of abandonment, in which Gambier has a counter claim for annulment of the marriage on the ground that his wife always treated him coldly.

Mrs. Gambier was a native of Atlanta, Ga., when she married the bank cashier on April 30, 1910, at the Church of the Incarnation. Gambier is about twice his wife's age. They went to Europe on their wedding trip, and Mrs. Adams met them in Munich on June 3, 1910, and later at Oberammergau.

Mrs. Adams testified that Mrs. Gambier's treatment of her husband caused her to say:

"You don't seem a bit in love with your husband."

"I am not," the witness said Mrs. Gambier replied.

"What in the world did you marry him for?" asked Mrs. Adams.

"Because I wanted to live in New York," replied Mrs. Gambier.

Mrs. Adams said that whenever Gambier approached his wife drew away, and that she showed a lack of interest in what he said or did. She appeared irritated if her husband approached as if to touch her. She was scornful and indifferent in manner when she spoke to him, the witness said.

Houston Crops Fine.

Perry, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Houston farmers are forging ahead with their work. Corn crops on an average are the best at this season of the year in many years. The cotton crop is looking fine. The best wheat crop has been harvested in the county that has ever been made, some farmers having secured as high as 30 bushels per acre, and very few have come under 17 bushels. The boys' corn clubs, composed of boys between the ages of 10 and 16 years, are hustling, and will this fall open the people's eyes and cause them to wonder how so much corn could be made on one acre of land.

Storm Takes Many Lives.

Trieste, Austria, June 15.—A storm of hurricane force raged during the night, causing many deaths and much damage to shipping. Early today the bodies of twenty victims had been recovered at this point. It is feared that fishing smacks with crews totalling forty men, which were at sea last night, were lost. The ships in the road were severely injured.

CHARGE FORGERY TO FITZPATRICK

Atlanta Man Arrested in Montgomery---Is Engineer on A. & W. P. Railway.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—(Special.)—Pending a preliminary hearing on a charge of forgery, Henry Kirkpatrick, of Atlanta, an engineer of the Atlanta and West Point railway, is locked up at police headquarters in Montgomery. He was arrested in this city today while in the act, it is alleged, of attempting to cash a forged check which was signed by the name of J. F. Yarbrough, a citizen of West Point, and indorsed by C. H. Allen, likewise of West Point.

When arrested Kirkpatrick was at the Fourth National bank and had just presented his name for collection on a check which had been left with the bank the last time he was in Montgomery. The bank officials quickly notified Paul Rapport, a local detective, who arrested the engineer, but who later turned the prisoner over to C. E. Sears, a secret agent of the W. J. Burns Detective Agency, who has been in Montgomery for several days at work on the case.

The collection which the engineer sought today amounted to something over $100. Kirkpatrick is 38 years old, and has a wife and several children, it is said, who live in Atlanta.

PRESIDENT TAFT TIRED OF NAMING OFFICIALS

He Wants the Civil Service Law Greatly Extended.

Washington, June 15.—The first authoritative answer to the charge that the administration uses the appointive power of the president to further political ends was made by President Taft today. In conversation with friends the president said he would be delighted if congress would take from his hands the duty of naming collectors of internal revenue, United States marshals and postmasters of the second and third classes.

He would be happy, he said, if congress would extend the civil service law to include such offices. Practically every post up to the grade of United States district attorney, the president told his callers, should be put under the civil service regulations.

QUESTIONS PUT TO SENATORS

In Regard to Their Opposition to Resolution Providing for Popular Vote.

Washington, June 15.—Notwithstanding they based their opposition to the Bristow amendment to the resolution providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, on the ground that it would permit federal interference in states having negro disfranchisement laws, many of the southern senators are receiving inquiries as to its effect.

Most of the replies, along the same line as the speeches, indicate apprehension that in case the amendment is engrafted into the constitution as amended by Mr. Bristow, it might result in renewed attempts to enact such legislation as the force bill of twenty years ago.

As the bill passed the house it vested complete control of senatorial elections in the various state legislatures. The Bristow provision knocks out that section and gives congress the same control in the election of senators by popular vote that it now has over their election by the state legislatures, and that it has over the election of members of the national house of representatives.

It is contended that under this authority, if it saw fit, congress could appoint federal registrars and supervisors and enforce their decrees with troops if necessary. It is admitted generally that the possibility of the exercise of such power is remote, but those who opposed the amendment contend that the risk should not be even remotely taken.

John D. Simmons Chosen.

Seamen's Strike to End.

London, June 15.—The important development in the general shipping strike today was the concession of an advance of $2.50 a month in wages to all employees involved by the White Star Company and the Canadian Pacific railway, an example which was followed later by the Holt and another line at Liverpool. The present outlook is that the strike will come to a speedy end.

Holman-Jenkins.

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Margaret Holman and Dr. Millard Alford Jenkens took place on the lawn of the bride's home last evening at 9 o'clock.

When the first notes of the wedding march sounded the bridal party appeared on the lawn. Little Frances Forbes, in a dainty pink mull, with Master Billie Moss, in a white suit, scattered pink roses for the bride and her attendants. The bridesmaids, Miss Lois Witcher and Miss Olivia Reid, of Madison, wearing white embroidered marquisettes and carrying pink carnations, followed. Then the matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. C. C. Mack, who wore a lovely pink marquisettes gown over messaline, trimmed in pearl and gold applique, followed, carrying pink roses.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Robert Holman, and the groom was attended by his best man, Rev. W. L. Walker, of Atlanta.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Len G. Broughton, of Atlanta.

As the bridal party stood in this fairy-like garden, the picture presented as the happy couple plighted their nuptial vows was one of unusual brilliancy and marked beauty.

Alpha Chapter of Wesleyan and Lambda Chapter of Brenau were the hostesses, and the eighty-five convention members were seated at a table in the shape of a Maltese cross. The decorations were in the sorority colors, white and blue, and baskets of sweetpeas in these colors were at each intersection of the cross. The menu was an elaborate one, and the spirit of the occasion most happy and informal.

In the evening the convention assembled again socially in the parlors of the Piedmont hotel. The Atlanta Alumnae, of which Miss Sarah Lee Evans is president and of which Mrs. W. C. Coles, the national president, is a member, were the hosts of the occasion, which was also quite informal.

The score cards were girls' heads, and the prizes were a fan, silver shoe buckles, silk stockings and a water color sketch. They were won by Miss Helen Thorn, Miss Margaret Thomas and Miss Frances Connally.

After the game delicious refreshments were served on the terrace, the young women forming a charming picture there in the light of sunset.

Mrs. Meador wore white pina cloth embroidered, and her hat was trimmed with pink plumes. Miss Jenkins wore pink satin-striped tissue and lace with a lingerie hat trimmed with pink roses and ribbon.

Houser-Cruickshank.

No prettier wedding has ever been witnessed in Birmingham than that which occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cruikshank, in Linden street, when Miss Mary George Cruikshank became the wife of Mr. Shaler Charles Houser.

The occasion was both brilliant and beautiful, the prominence of the two young people making the event one of notable importance in society.

The friends who had been bidden to the ceremony thronged the handsome home long before the appointed hour, and awaited the appearance of the bridal party with unusual interest.

Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Houser left for their home in Guantanamo, Cuba, the bride looking very lovely in her going-away gown of dark blue serge with cuffs and collar of black and white striped satin. Her blouse was of white chiffon and Irish lace and her becoming chapeau was of blue hemp with algrettes of blue and white.

As Miss Cruikshank the bride has been one of the most popular and charming belles who has ever lived in Birmingham. During the time that has elapsed since her entrance into society this graceful young woman has had and held friends by the score—their allegiance once plighted, always remaining steadfast and true. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M Cruikshank, whose prominence in the social world has made them among the most popular of Birmingham's substantial and honored citizens.

Mr. Houser is the son of the late Mr. Thomas H. Houser, of Anniston, a prominent capitalist. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama and at one time was an instructor there. For the past seven years he has resided in Cuba, where he is a prosperous and prominent engineer, his firm being one of the largest on the island. Genial of manner, clever and affable, Mr. Houser makes friends readily wherever he goes and in his far-away southern home his friends will welcome his fair bride with sincerity and cordiality, first for him, and afterwards when they grow to know her, for her own sweet sake.

Miss Cruikshank has quite often visited friends in Atlanta. Each season she is a well-known figure in local society, and Mr. Houser also has many friends in Atlanta. En route to Cuba, where they will spend an extended honeymoon, they are now stopping at the Piedmont for a few days.

BRITISHERS PLANNING CELEBRATE CORONATION

At a gathering of representative Britishers, resident in Atlanta, held in 1033 Candler building on Tuesday evening, it was resolved to form a committee with power to arrange for a banquet on Thursday, June 22, in celebration of the coronation of King George V. R. W. Cameron was elected chairman and Cyril B. Smith secretary. In order that the affair be a success it is needful that all Britishers and descendants of Britishers, comprising English, Irish, Scotch, Canadians and all Colonials, co-operate. It is expected that a goodly sprinkling of American cousins will honor the festivities by their presence. Address all communications to the secretary, Cyril B. Smith, at 1033 Candler building.

Dublin Band Complimented.

Dublin, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding the fact that a month has passed by since the confederate reunion at Little Rock, the Dublin Concert band, which is composed of twenty-one young Dublin boys, ranking in age from 16 to 20, is still receiving words of commendation for the music furnished on that occasion.

In a letter from General John H. Martin, of the Georgia division, General Martin tells the boys that the splendid showing they made caused every Georgian to feel proud, and said that they had won the admiration of the multiplied thousands assembled at Little Rock. He gives it as his opinion that the band had much to do with the fact that Macon won the convention.

From Winsted, Conn., it is reported that the reflection of a fire against a blanket of mist near that town at midnight deceived birds into thinking it was sunrise. Robbins and other birds sang lustily until the fire died down.

REFUSING TO CONVICT TIGERS BIBB JURORS BREAK UP COURT

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Because the jurors in the city court flatly refused to convict any more blind tigers, acquitting the last two tried in the face of positive and undisputed evidence, the court adjourned today, leaving more than twenty prohibition cases still on the docket, undisposed of. They will be heard at the July term.

Several jurors went to Judge Hodges and told him that some of their associates had openly stated that they would not convict any more liquor dealers, and, after retiring to the jury room, would not even discuss the case, as jurors usually do.

Some of the jurors stated today, after being discharged, that they did not indorse the action of the court in imposing straight jail sentences, although they admit that the course pursued by the judge will have the effect of breaking up liquor-selling.

STATE BOARD OF HIGHWAYS

Favored by Road Federation. Reports Show Rapid Development in Road Building.

Albany, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Fourteen counties which were not represented at yesterday's session of the Georgia Federation of Road authorities had delegations in attendance today, and the sessions continued to be full of interest.

Judge William F. Eve, of Augusta, was today re-elected president of the federation and the same congressional district vice presidents were also re-elected.

Reports from all parts of the state showed the rapid development of good roads sentiment and the putting into practice of the theory that the progressive community cannot afford to be without roads of the best type.

Athens was selected as the place for holding next year's convention, winning out over Dublin, which was a strong bidder for the honor.

Resolutions were adopted calling on the legislature to provide for county boards of tax assessors and a state board of equalizers, present conditions being condemned as chaotic.

The convention went on record as favoring a state board of highways.

COBB TEACHERS HOLD INSTITUTE

Professor L. M. Spruell Leader. More Than 80 Teachers in Attendance.

Marietta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The Cobb county teachers have been in session this week in annual institute work. Professor L. M. Spruell has been leader, and has had the cooperation of the best teachers in the county. He also brought to his aid the assistance of all the local ministers, and they have made excellent speeches to the teachers.

Some of the notable talks were the address of Mr. Spruell on "The Teacher's (Backbone;" "Faithfulness as a Quality of the Teacher," by Rev. G. W. Duvall: "What I Expect of the Teacher of My Child," by Rev. E. S. Doan; "Why Teach the Bible in the Schools?" by Rev. A. B. Bond, and "The Teacher and the Taught," by Rev. Walter Dillard.

Some eighty teachers were in attendance, most of the schools in the county public school system being represented. County School Commissioner Bernard Awtrey has made an earnest effort to get all the teachers to attend, and has succeeded admirably, though some yet remain to be reached. Those who have been here during the week were:

Messrs. L. M. Spruell, L. M. Crissey, R. H. Clay, W. J. Seay, W. L. Alexander, Greer McGarity, Fred L. Owen, J. Guy Beall, J. R. Walker, J. M. White, J. E. Tatum, L. A. Stone, Roy W. Tapp, T. G. IN BED EIGHT WEEKS

In Bad Shape, Mrs. Belle Teal Takes Her Doctor's Advice and Soon Regains Her Health.

Crandall, Texas.—"After my baby was born," writes Mrs. Belle Teal, of this city, in a recent letter, "I remained very sick, which kept me in bed for eight weeks.

"I couldn't get up, all this time, and though my doctor came to see me every day, he didn't do me any good.

"He said I was suffering from serious womanly trouble, and at last he advised my husband to give me Wine of Cardui.

"I hadn't taken but one (1) bottle of Cardui till I was up, going everywhere, and by the time I had taken two (2) bottles, I was doing all my work in the house.

"Before I took Cardui, I suffered all the time, with my back, legs and head, but Cardui relieved these pains. I still take Cardui every now and then, and praise it most highly to all my friends."

Cardui helps when other medicines have failed, because it contains ingredients not found in any other medicine—not sold in drug stores—not obtainable except through buying Cardui, the woman's tonic.

BURWELL QUITS SPEAKER'S RACE

His Retirement Leaves Field to John N. Holder, of Jackson.

William H. Burwell, of Hancock county, has retired from the race for speaker of the next house, leaving the field to John M. Holder, of Jackson, who will probably be elected without opposition.

In announcing his retirement, Mr. Burwell gave no reasons, but it is presumed that he conceded Mr. Holder's claim of enough votes pledged to elect.

There has been some talk of H. W. Hopkins, of Thomas, as a candidate for speaker, but as little has been heard of his candidacy recently, it is presumed he will not allow his name presented. This would mean, of course, Mr. Holder unanimously.

With Mr. Burwell's retirement, the organization of both branches of the assembly will be quickly effected when it convenes June 22. John M. Slaton's election to the presidency of the senate has been conceded for some time.

Mr. Burwell has long been one of the leaders for Governor Smith's policies in the house and senate, and it is presumed he will be floor leader for the governor's measures this year.

PHOTOGRAPHERS MEET TUESDAY

Fully 250 Southern Delegates Will Be in the City.

Professional photographers from ten southern states will meet for a three days' convention in Taft hall next Tuesday to perfect a southern organization, discuss recent improvements in their art and compete in an exhibition which will bring out the best pictures in the world.

In addition to the 250 photographers expected there will be a large representation of independent manufacturers and chemists who cater to the trade. The states to be represented are Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Southern photographers have already a tentative organization which they will perfect at this time. It is hoped that sufficient interest will be aroused to enable the organization to secure for the south, and preferably for Atlanta, the next convention of the National Photographers' Association.

During the three days of the meeting there will be continuous exhibitions and demonstrations of the most recent appliances. Results attained by famous studios will be flashed by lantern on a huge screen.

The independent manufacturers have offered eight prize cups for the best work done in various classes. As America is the admitted leader in the art of taking pictures, this contest will undoubtedly bring out specimens of the highest artistic attainments.

During one day of the convention, probably Thursday, this exhibition will be thrown open to the public.

Gainesville's Increase.

Gainesville, Ga., June 15.—(Special.) The increase in realty and personal values in Gainesville over 1910 is $311,071.84. City Assessors W. A. Miller, J. B. Mundy and S. B. Carter today turned over their books to the city council. The total realty returns for the three wards of the city is $2,670,125. The total personal returns of white and colored citizens is $1,514,271.72. The increase in realty is a good one, and shows that Gainesville continues to grow.

Winder Votes Bonds.

Winder, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—In a special election, called by the mayor and council, the city of Winder voted today for sewer bonds. There were registered for the election 269 voters. In all, 238 votes were cast, 233 for bonds and only five against. Only 180 votes were necessary to carry the election for bonds. The amount of the bonds is $21,500. The city expects to have the sewer system open and ready for use by the first of November.

MACON TO HAVE $500,000 HOTEL

W. L. Stoddart, of New York, Will Draw the Plans.

A new half-million dollar hotel for Macon is now assured. Frederick Kloepfer, supervising architect of the new Georgian Terrace hotel for W. L. Stoddart, of New York, has just returned from Macon and states that Mr. Stoddart has been appointed architect for the new hotel after competition with Macon and Atlanta architects, Mr. Stoddart is also architect for the new Savannah hotel.

The Midland Hotel Company, of Macon, of which R. F. Burden is president, and N. M. Block, R. J. Taylor, W. G. Lea, W. E. Dunwoody, M. H. Massee, Mr. Hurd, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Adams are directors, will erect the new hotel, which will be built at the corner of Third and Cherry streets, and will be nine stories in height, of fire-proof construction throughout, with brick facings and stone and terra cotta trimmings on exterior and marble and tile and hardwood finish on interior. The building will contain all the latest equipments, including a power plant, ice plant, vacuum sweeping plant, electric elevators, steam heat, etc., and will be one of the best hotels in the south.

The first story will contain the lobby, entered from both streets, dining room, grill room, ladies' parlor, kitchen and business spaces. The mezzanine story will contain private dining rooms, parlors and foyer and writing rooms. The upper stories will contain about 200 rooms and baths, with sample rooms on top story, with possibly an assembly hall.

Mr. Kloepfer was much impressed with the possibilities of Macon and the "Macon spirit." If the "Atlanta spirit" is any criterion, Macon, with its fine location and layout, it's inestimable agricultural territory and its manufacturing facilities, should in a few years become one of the great cities of the now south, toward which it has already a good start.

WOMAN AND HER WORK---PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT IN THE HOME AND OUT OF IT

Conducted by ISMA DOOLY

MAKERS OF SUMMER GOWNS HAVE GREAT OPPORTUNITY

The pretty summer gown—the kind that women like to wear at home summer evenings, the dainty cool affair, not the elaborate lingerie gown—is seldom seen now, not because women do not want them, not that the merchant does not bring to market the right materials, but because there is nobody to make these gowns.

There are those who "make at them," but few skilled hands who can fashion pretty summer gowns.

"Why is this?" many may ask.

One is, the female mind, for the time being, is perverted on the kind of work they want to do; the idea is to do any kind of work to take them out of the home, rather than keep them in it.

The second reason is that only the artistic dressmaker takes time to do them well, and she naturally wants a price which is more than the gown is worth. The consequence is, the greatest monopolist today is the woman who can make the pretty, simple gown. She knows you are dependent upon her, and nobody can blame her for becoming czarina of the situation.

The young woman today who would equip herself to make the pretty summer gown, make that her specialty, would have a small fortune assured her. From the room in which she starts, she could develop a large establishment, for I know of ten women today who would go up town and get ten pretty gowns if they could just find somebody to make these gowns properly and at a reasonable price.

Madame's regular modiste is worn out struggling through a busy season with unskilled labor. She won't worry with the simple gown now, so there is time and opportuunity for the woman who can sew if she will.

Atlanta women dress a great deal, and dress well, and it seems remarkable that more women who wish to make an honest living do not realize that in home handiwork they have their chance. They can command their own time, and have the dignity that a personal occupation and personal business always has over any other, and it seems so remarkable that the gentility of the home work is not more appealing.

It would seem that the social standards as well as the educational standards are very lacking—and that some influence will have to be brought about to impress the youthful mind of the present, with the dignity of work; then the further dignity there is about efficient work; then to make the younger generation of wage earning women realize the value and protection there is in the home industries.

Something must be done to make them see the value of the home avocations, not only in the matter of equipping themselves to be good homekeepers and good housekeepers, but to make themselves competent to earn wage and still not leave the home.

I do not blame the southern white girl for not caring to equip herself in domestic service with a view to making that her avocation, for just so long as we have with us the negro race, naturally adapted to domestic service and industrial service, I see no reason why the women of the two races should be pitted against the other in household service.

There is plenty of work for the young white women to do and unless she chooses it, the idea of her being trained for domestic service as a profession is scarcely consistent with southern race relations.

In individual instances it may successfully hold, but never generally in these parts.

The matter of woman's handiwork, however, is another thing, and no woman clever with her needle need feel that every dignity is not hers. The truth is, there are certain little things every lady should be able to do with her needle, and the more expert she is, the more dainty she generally appears.

Would it not be a good plan for the women who may be interested in the welfare of the industrial woman to begin to look into the matter of how these women may be led into the things which would help them as wage earners—into the activities which could be accomplished in the home?

SPEAKS FROM KNOWLEDGE AND FROM EXPERIENCE

Third Prize Article.

Every wide-awake farmer's wife would appreciate the privilege of attending a lecture for their especial benefit in connection with the Farmers' Institute, which is for the benefit of their husbands.

I do not believe there would be many who would be too overworked to attend once they understood that the lecture was for the purpose of teaching them easier ways of doing the work that day after day is wearing them out both physically and mentally.

I believe there would be more of the many labor-saving devices, now on the market, used in the farmer's home if the farmer and his wife knew of them, and the saving of time and strength they would be. And who knows a woman's trials and struggles better than a woman? I would prefer women lecturers for that reason. I should certainly be glad to attend a meeting like that, and to urge every woman of my acquaintance to go, also.

My mother is a farmer's wife, and has reared a family of nine children without possessing or knowing of any of the many things she could have had, which would not have cost anything like the amount she is now paying in doctor's bills trying to regain the strength lost in the daily drudgery, which might have been saved her had she known anything about domestic science.

My husband and I, besides teaching in the public schools, make plenty of corn, hay, potatoes and vegetables for our own use; also a bale or two of cotton, doing all our work without outside help. And knowledge that we can gain in the way of economizing in time and labor is worth money to us.

We are in position to know that the crying need of the farmer's wife is to know easier ways of doing work which must be done over day after day, and better ways of preparing food for her growing boys and girls.

MRS. STELLA WALLS.

Ashland, Ala.

FOR BRIDESMAIDS.

By Leslie Cuyler.

Fortunate indeed is the bride who can have a country wedding in the month of roses, for she can make of her nuptial day a fete that will not soon be forgotten by any who are so lucky as to be invited to attend. For her bridesmaids' gowns and for the decoration in church and house she must decide upon a color scheme of pink, for every hedge and field is decked out ready to help her create a perfect picture.

To decorate the church, branches of wild roses are beautiful, and the same flowers can be used about the house. The spreading branches of this flower will also lend themselves easily to form a bower above the bride and bridegroom, where they stand to receive the congratulations of their friends.

Instead of bouquets, each attendant of the June bride should be given a basket of roses from which to scatter petals as she precedes the bride up the aisle. The effect of the floating rose leaves will be charming, and the flowers as they fall to the ground will make a beautiful and fitting carpet for the happy bride to tread upon.

The most graceful flower baskets have long stiff handles to slip over the arm, but if these are too expensive it is possible to procure flat wicker trays, which, with long ribbons of pink satin tied over the shoulder of each bridesmaid, can be balanced with one hand, while the flowers are scattered with the other. The basket must, of course, be carried on the outside of the aisle, and must, therefore, be reversed at the altar before starting down the aisle when the ceremony is over. It is a pretty custom for the bridesmaids to advance to meet the bride from doors at the end of the church by the altar, turning about at the vestibule and preceding the bride again up the aisle.

Flowered organdie or flowered mull, which is softer and will cling more gracefully to the figure, makes exceptionally attractive costumes for the June bridesmaid. The color should be accentuated by a ribbon girdle of a deep shade of pink, for the flowers, if printed upon a white ground, naturally lose much of their tone when viewed from a distance and in the somber light of a church. Naturally, it is necessary to observe strict economy in selecting the bridesmaids' gowns, and not unless all are agreed to spend a certain amount is it fair to insist upon an elaborate and expensive dress. Though difficult at other times of year, perhaps, to find materials that are sufficiently effective, the June bride has no such trouble for any one of the pretty summer fabrics now to be had for as low as 25 cents a yard (and, perhaps, for less if a bargain sale can be taken advantage of) will make attractive gowns.

HER MANNERS HER CHARM

"Why is it little Miss So-and-So seems more popular than any of the other girls of the particular group she goes with," asked an interested friend of another at a recent gathering where the school girl set was the center.

"She is not so pretty as the others; she does not seem any brighter; she entertains but little—

"But she has good manners," was the answer that interrupted.

"She is well-bred, considerate of others, and seems to have still some of the gentleness which formerly was considered necessary in the completion of a young woman's training.

"But are not all these young women well-bred?"

"No, I am sorry to say they are not. For instance, let me give you an instance. The other day one of the card parties given for members of this particular young set, the hostess asked the group at one of the tables to please move, that it was time to go to the next table.

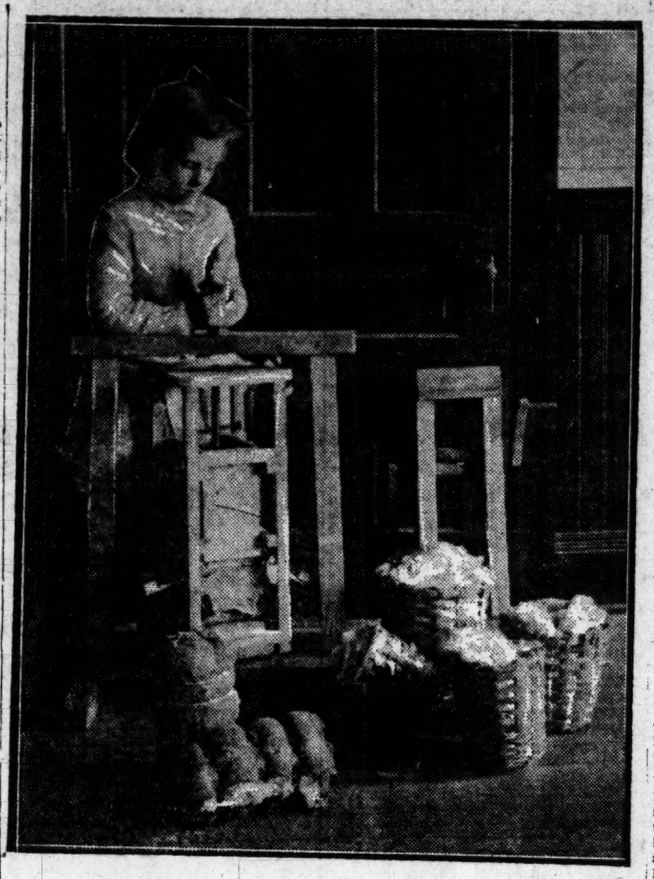

"We do not care to move," was the reply. "The four hundred in New York do not move any more at parties!"

"But, dear, it is our game here," replied the hostess, who was told with a giggle. "Well, Mrs. ——, you are behind the times."

One can't help but wonder what is taught at some of the finishing schools to which parents economize for years to send their children, when instances of this kind were quoted.

In the fitting of daughters for the world there is some carelessness on the part of the modern mothers as to the training of their daughter's hearts. If their hearts were soft and affectionate toward the world, as one expects the youthful heart to be, it would be expressed in manner, and there would be gentler manners among the younger generation who are being so much criticised for their lack in this direction.

All the world loves youth and is forgiving of the indiscretions of youth, but youth owes something to the world—owes gentleness and consideration and good manners.

RECIPES.

Raspberry Trifle.—Arrange stale macaroons or slices of sponge cake in a deep glass dish with alternate layers of sweetened raspberries. Pour over these a custard made with the yolks of three eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar and one pint of rich milk, flavored with half a teaspoonful of lemon extract. This is a boiled custard and must be on the fire only long enough to get slightly thickened. Make a meringue with the whites of the three eggs and five tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Heap this on top of the trifle before serving.

Raspberry Popovers.—Beat three eggs light, but not as light as for cake; add two cupfuls of milk and beat again; then add two cupfuls of flour that have been sifted twice with a small saltspoon of salt and beat all smooth. Pour into hot buttered gem pans and bake in a moderate oven. When taken from the oven, split one side open and fill with sweetened raspberries. Dust powdered sugar over and serve at once. Use cream if desired.

Berry Tapioca.—This can be made with either raspberries or strawberries. Cook four tablespoonfuls of instantaneous tapioca in two cupfuls of water with one cupful of sugar and one teaspoonful of butter, until clear. Wash gently (if needed) one pint of either berry; cut each large berry in half, sprinkle over with sugar; let them marinate in their juice one-half hour. When the tapioca is ready stir this puree through the tapioca without cooking. When cold set to chill in the ice chest. It becomes a lovely pink color and is delicious served with whipped cream.

Cherry Roll.—Roll out a sheet of rich pastry and cover thick with pitted cherries; sprinkle with sugar, roll up and place in a baking dish and bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve hot with cherry sauce. Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, stir in as many pitted cherries as the sauce will hold without separating.

Cherry Toast.—Toast several slices of bread and spread with butter. Stew two cupfuls of stoned cherries, without any water, if possible, and sugar enough to sweeten well. When cold pour over the toast set on individual plates and on each put a spoonful of whipped cream.

Asparagus.—This vegetable should be boiled standing the head end up in a deep saucepan; nearly two inches of head should be out of the water, the steam being sufficient to cook them as they form the tenderest part of the plant. Cooking thirty or forty minutes this way will render a third more of the stalk delicious, while the head will be properly cooked by steam alone.

Asparagus on Toast.—Drain the cooked asparagus and cut off the tips, laying these on strips of buttered toast. Garnish with slices of hard boiled egg, and serve with cream sauce.

Asparagus Tips.—There are very many ways of serving these tips when you have utilized the stalks for a cream soup. Boiled in salted water for ten or twelve minutes, they may be used as a garnish for boiled salmon salad; may be well seasoned and served in patties with or without a cream sauce. They may be seasoned with salt, pepper, butter, have a little cream added, then eaten from individual sauce dishes after the method of serving green peas, or they may be added to an omelet just before doubling over, or to an egg scramble, allowing one-half cupful of tips to every three eggs.

LEARNING TEXTILES.

To learn textiles is one of the most interesting phases of household economics, and every woman now must make up her mind to learn something of household economics. The lessons can begin almost in the kindergarten. In the Girls' Home school at Menominee, Wis., each class has some instruction in the subject of textiles, as it not only teaches girls artistic values, but teaches them to be more intelligent purchasers of household materials. Although several years ago announcement was made in the industrial statistics of Georgia that seven-tenths of the operatives in our factories were women, there is very little training for textiles in any part of the state school system, though we are daily told the more skilled the labor the better fabrics the mills can turn out.

LIGHT RAINS FALL THROUGHOUT TEXAS

Moisture Too Light to Affect Corn, Though of Some Benefit to Cotton.

Dallas, Texas, June 15.—The first rain drops in nearly a month, falling last night in numerous sections of north central Texas, where corn is burning up and cotton must soon have moisture, gave rise to reports last night that the drouth had been broken.

Today's reports show that the rain was not general; that it consisted of hundreds of light showers which did some good, though as a rule the moisture was hardly more than enough to lay the dust. A few points, however, reported a good drenching.

Dallas and Fort Worth appear to have been nearest the center of the storm area, which extended 75 to 100 miles in every direction from these cities. Here the precipitation was .22 of an inch. A few miles north of this city the rain was heavy, but the heavy precipitation benefited only a few square miles.

Paris was the only north Texas town reporting rain today, a light drizzle falling there this afternoon.

A score of north Texas towns reported light rains, but with scarcely an exception the moisture was declared to be too light to affect corn, though positively of some benefit to cotton.

Publicity for Newspapers.

Washington, June 15.—A bill providing that every newspaper must print in a conspicuous place the name of the owner or owners, publisher and managing editor, was introduced today by Representative Barnhart, of Illinois.

Local freight men are looking forward with considerable interest to the meeting at which they are to perfect their organization into a social club. They feel that there has been a real need for such an organization here for years, and are certain that the success of the organization is already assured.

Reports from every section of the state are to the effect that travel to the seashore and mountain resorts this season is breaking all previous records. The unusually hot weather, coming early in the season, is believed to be partly responsible, but the good travel also indicates more prosperous conditions, it is said.

The special train of picnickers which came into Atlanta over the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, was a record-breaker, having upwards of 800 people aboard.

The fact that President Charles A. Wickersham, of the Atlanta and West Point, has so far made no announcement as to whether or not he will go to Chicago, resigning his position here, has caused no abatement of interest among local railroad men. It is believed that Mr. Wickersham will announce his plans within the next few days.

HANGING GOOD ENOUGH, SAYS CHATHAM SHERIFF

Opposition Develops to Judge Morris' Proposed Bill to Establish Electric Chair.

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Chatham county's representatives in the legislature are not at all enthusiastic over Judge Newt Morris' bill which proposes to abolish hanging in Georgia, substituting the electric chair.

Representatives Lawrence, Anderson and McCarthy all declare they are not wedded to the present system and are willing to be shown, but say as they see it now they think the present system is good enough.

While Chatham's representatives are really indifferent about the matter, Sheriff Screven has pronounced views. He is unalterably opposed to a change and takes no stock in the theory that men who go to the gallows are made heroes of. He thinks the present system answers all purposes.

Sheriff Screven points out that if the electric chair is adopted all of the executions would take place in one city, probably Atlanta, and that the state would have to go to the expense of carting its condemned prisoners around, paying to send an officer to Atlanta with each prisoner and paying expressage on the body back to the home of the criminal.

HE PREFERRED DEATH TO FACING SHORTAGE

Cashier Hart Refused to Take Wife's Money to Square Himself.

Tarboro, N. C., June 15.—State Examiner Doughton reported today after a cursory examination that the shortage of Cashier Hart, who suicided yesterday, and Assistant Cashier Hussey, who is in jail in default of bond, will certainly reach $100,000, and may run considerably in excess of this sum. The bank is practically wrecked and the depositors will be losers to a considerable amount.

The funeral of the self-slain cashier took place today, and was conducted by the Elks. Developments today show that Hart premeditated suicide. He told his wife some time ago that men whom he had accommodated by permitting them to overdraw their accounts were leaving him to bear the brunt. She urged him to take her property and square himself with the bank, but this he refused to do, saying he would take his medicine when caught.

The letter addressed to his wife, which was found on the body, was typewritten at the bank at least a day prior to the suicide. Hussey is still in jail, unable to furnish the required bail.

Taste of War for Naval Militia.

Washington, June 15.—The naval militia of the Atlantic coast states will be given a taste of "war" in their summer practice July 15 to 25. The Atlantic torpedo fleet and the naval militia vessels will "defend" Narragansett bay and the eastern entrance of Long Island sound aaginst a stimulated attack from July 18 to 20 of the battleship fleet. This will be an innovation to the militiamen, designed to train them in the art of coast defense, which would be their role in time of war.

NEGRO FALLS TO DEATH WHILE ENGAGED IN FIGHT

A crushed and lifeless body was found in the basement of the Third National Bank building yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, when spectators rushed to the scene after they had witnessed a spectacular fall of a workman from the eighth floor.

Washington Kendricks and Judson Woolley, two negroes employed on the unfinished skyscraper, became involved in a dispute over some tools, and words led to blows. Woolley stoutly maintains that the Kendricks negro struck him in the head with a shovel, and that in the subsequent tusseling his foot slipped and he fell down the elevator shaft to his death.

Woolley was placed under arrest, and is held on a charge of murder. He seems not the least uneasy about his case and tells a straight story of the accident.

NEGROES DROWN NEAR LAKEWOOD

Joe Arnold and His Brother Sink in Germania Lake.

Two negroes were drowned in Germania lake, near Lakewood, yesterday afternoon.

Joe Arnold, a negro farmer, with his brother, Will, was cleaning out the lake. Neither of the two could swim, but when the former fell into the water his brother made an effort to save him. He never reached him, and went down in the attempt. Joe Arnold never rose after sinking the first time. Several hours were occupied in finding the two bodies, and the lake finally had to be drained.

NEGRO MAN IS KILLED AND BOX CAR WRECKED

One man was killed, a box car was wrecked and considerable damage was done by fire yesterday morning at the Bellwood avenue crossing, when a stick of dynamite in a work car exploded.

The explosion was caused by Sam Whitlock, the negro who was killed. He was cleaning up the car, and stuck his broom into a closet where were six sticks of dynamite. It is said that they had been left there for many months, and freak chance decreed that they should be set off in this peculiar manner.

The negro was hurled bruised and torn into a pile of wreckage. He was hurred to the Grady hospital, where he died in the afternoon. The car was wrecked, and flames were spread to some lumber and other trash, so that the fire department was called out.

The car belonged to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, and was in charge of Foreman J. H. Patterson. No oe beside the Whitlock negro was in the car at the time.

POSTAL SLEUTH IN CONSPIRACY

To Ruin a Rural Mail Carrier at Loganville?

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Back of the removal from office of Postmaster A. F. Swords, of Loganville, Ga., which was ordered a few days ago, lies a story of persecution, following collusion, corruption and bribery by postoffice sleuths which is not often met with.

The story has just come to light, and concerns the discharge on December 23, last, of A. C. Cooper, a rural free delivery letter carrier on route 3 from the Loganville offict. The evidence against Cooper was secured by postoffice Inspector Bain and consisted of testimony given by Hockless Bates, a negro, and J. G. Brown, a white man. They said the carrier had secured money from patrons of his route while on duty to purchase money orders for them and had not done so.

Howard Takes Up Case.

Representative William Schley Howard brought about the reinstatement of Cooper and the discharge of Postmaster Swords. It was his first experience with the postoffice department as a representative from the Fifth When Mr. Howard was appealed to by the friends of Cooper he immediately took the matter up and proceeded to look into the claims that Cooper had been thrown out on perjured testimony. He secured affidavits signed by seventy representative patrons of the Loganville postoffice, which set forth that Bates was "a worthless negro, and a person of no character."

It was further stated in one affidavit that Brown was a "blockader and blind tiger" and had no other business. The makers of these affidavits said neither man would be believed on oath.

"Blind Tiger" in Postoffice.

The patrons of the office also made the charge against Postmaster Swords that he used his offive as a distributing place for liquor. Later the negro Hockless Bates made another affidavit swearing that Postmaster Swords had paid him money to give evidence against Carrier Cooper.

Armed with these affidavits, Representative Howard went to the postoffice department and made a vigorous demand for the reinstatement of Cooper. He charged collusion on part of Postmaster Swords and Inspector Bain to ruin Cooper.

So thoroughly convinced were the officials of the department that an injustice had been done that following an investigation of the evidence submitted by Mr. Howard, an order was issued for Cooper's reinstatement on May 14. Last week an order for the removal of Postmaster Swords was issued.

Mayor N. O. Bennett, of Loganville, came to Washington a few days ago in connection with the postoffice, but found on arrival that action had already been taken. J. W. Garrett and M. C. Connell are applicants for the vacancy.

Hitchcock's Favorite Abuses Power.

Postal employees, at today's hearing before the committee on expenditures in the postoffice department, testified that G. G. Thompson, a favorite of Postmaster General Hitchcock, forced them to attend to his private affairs when they should have been working for the government. Thompson is now superintendent of the rural free delivery service, thanks to the friendship of Hitchcock. Thompson was formerly chief of the supply division. He was promoted to take charge of the postoffice inspectors with Austin, Texas, as headquarters.

His family and household goods were at Washington. As chief of the supply division, it was testified, Thompson appropriated to his own use government lumber to pack and crate his furniture and required the postoffice carpenters to pack the goods and ship them. Several days were required to complete this work and all the time the carpenters were on the government payrolls. The work was done during the regular hours of labor at the postoffice department.

Used Government Employees.

Thompson, as chief of the supply division, also had his house fitted with fly screens, and this work was performed by government employees in government time. He actually had an additional room built to his Washington dwelling, and this, too, was done by government employees in government time.

T. H. Byrnes, a carpenter, told the committee of these facts. Thompson denied them, but Byrnes' testimony was corroborated by other employees in the postoffice department.

Witnesses told the committee that they were moved to perform such duties for a division chief in the hope of securing promotion or through the fear of being discharged.

Thompson, after serving as a postoffice inspector in Texas, was promoted by Postmaster General Hitchcock to be superintendent of the rural free delivery service. He is now stationed in Washington. Thompson is the same official who helped Hitchcock manage the republican campaign in 1908, being restored to his former standing in the postoffice department as soon as the campaign was over.

BLACKLIST USED BY LUMBER TRUST

On Manufacturers Who Sold to the Consumers.

Kansas City, Mo., June 15.—A bundle of letters which passed between John A. Gorsuch, secretary of the Southwestern Lumbermen's Association, and Carl A. Drake, formerly secretary of the Texas Lumbermen's Association, and which were confiscated from Drake's offices when he recently fled from Austin, Texas, put vigor into the state's ouster suit against the alleged lumber monopoly when they were introduced here today. Mr. Gorsuch, who was on the witness stand, admitted the letters were genuine.

What the Letters Prove.

The state contends the letters, which were read, prove:

That fourteen lumbermen's associations, embracing practically the whole of the forest area of the United States, maintained an "information bureau," which kept its members advised upon what manufacturers sold direct to the consumer.

That manufacturers who sold to retailers that failed to keep their association obligations were blacklisted.

That the members of the various associations had agreements not to invade one another's territory.

That Mr. Gorsuch was fearful lest the working of the "information bureau," violate the anti-trust laws.

That the Southwestern Lumbermen's Association refrained from putting in its by-laws and constitution penalties for dealers who failed to keep their membership obligations because it was feared the organization might be brought into conflict with the anti-trust laws.

Warned to Be Cautious.

It would appear from a letter Drake wrote Gorsuch on May 4, 1903, that Gorsuch had warned him to be cautious. Drake said in part:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the first. I do not think there is anything in our anti-trust laws that is going to affect the working of the bureau of information. I am much more interested in the result of the internal workings than scared of any particular danger that may arise to us. For more than four years I have been able to keep out of the penitentiary through good luck and political influence and I feel that I am getting most too old to change my abode and am keeping up my political connections.

"I have sent a copy of the constitution and by-laws as you heard them read in Galveston, together with a copy of the anti-trust law, to Hollis for the opinion of the attorney in chief."

Drake did not leave Texas on account of any trouble he had with the state over his connection with the lumber business. After he departed the attorney general of Texas ransacked Drake's office, found the letters and forwarded them to John M. Atkinson, attorney general of Missouri, who is conducting the lumber prosecution.

They Knew What to Do.

In a letter referring to the failure of the Southwestern Lumbermen's Association to include penalties in its by laws, Gorsuch, in a letter to Drake on May 15, 1903, said:

"A number of our members have asked me what we propose to do since we wiped out all penalties and obligations, and I have answered all of them that every dealer in lumber who is a member of the association has been in business long enough to know just what the object of the association is, and that we propose to protect our members in the same old way as we have been doing and that it is not necessary to put it down in black and white in our constitution and by-laws. I have found them all satisfied with the change and feel a great deal freer since we have wiped out all semblance of anything that might be construed by a prejudiced judge as in conflict with the anti-trust laws of our several states."

Gorsuch spoke, in other letters, of several specific cases where manufacturers had sold lumber to retailers who failed to keep their agreement to restrict their sales to their own territory. He was of the opinion that if association members would refuse to buy from these hanufacturers it would be but a short time until the retailer's supply would be cut off and "this might induce him to be good."

100 BOTTLES OF BEER SOLD EACH MINUTE

Record Breaking Sale of Illicit Stuff in South Carolina.

Easley, S. C., June 15.—One hundred bottles per minute is the record-breaking sale of illicit beer made here recently by a man named Doolittle, who passed through the town with a large supply of the intoxicant, disposing of fifteen hundred bottles in fifteen minutes. He was arrested later in Spartanburg and put up bond of $100 for his appearance in the city courts.

Prince in Auto Accident.

Berlin, June 15.—Crown Prince Frederick William was in an automobile accident today, but escaped injury. He was driving to the home of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg to call upon the chancellor when his car struck the curb, smashing a wheel. The crown prince was thrown to the sidewalk, but nat with great force. The chauffeur was thrown out and striking against a lamp post, was slightly bruised. The crown prince continued his trip in a cab.

County Officials Worried.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—(Special.)—Following upon the report by Examiner J. T. Gorman, in which he declared that about $6,000 had been improperly expended by Autauga county officials on their county accounts, it is understood that county officials throughout the state are uneasy as to their methods of conducting the county's business. The examiners are demanding that only those expenditures shall be made which are strictly authorized by law.

Charles Eagan Dead.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 15.—Charles Eagan, who shot his wife and himself Tuesday as a result of domestic trouble, died at a local hospital this morning. His wife, Mrs. Della Eagan, died Tuesday night from the effects of wounds. She was shot through the lungs and abdomen and Eagan shot himself twice through the lungs.

Feared the "13" Hoodoo.

New London, Conn., June 15.—The gift of a large tract of land by Mr. Harrison U. Allyn to the new $2,000,000 Connecticut College for Women, is not to be received with the "13 hoodoo." Despite the fact that the deed was drawn on June 13, it is dated June 12, to eliminate any chance of bad luck being attached to the gift.

BLOWS FALLING ON RECIPROCITY

Senator Nelson Says Canada Has Fooled United States.

Washington, June 15.—The second day of debate on the Canadian reciprocity bill proved a field day for those opposed to the measure. Led by Senator Knute Nelson in a prepared speech a number of senators took part in a running debate that marked the closing period of the address.

At adjournment Senator Penrose, in charge of the bill, felt this had cleared the atmosphere considerably and he expressed the opinion that the general debate would not be of such great duration as had been predicted.

Senator Nelson was radically antagonistic to the bill. He occupied the floor most of the day, but explained that this was only the first of several installments of his views on this subject.

A spirited debate among republican senators was precipitated over the effect of the Root amendment dealing with paper and wood pulp. Senators Lodge, Clarke, of Wyoming, and Smoot all were on the floor and talking simultaneously. They agreed that that provision only restored the terms of the treaty as submitted to congress.

Ask the Whispering Winds.

"How, then, did that feature of the agreement disappear?" asked Mr. William Alden Smith, of Michigan.

"Ask the whispering winds," responded Mr. Clark.

Apparently pleased with the poetic character of his response, the Wyoming senator first seemed disposed to leave it there; but later added that the amendment was not only in harmony with the original compact between the two countries, but in consonance with the Canadian bill carrying the agreement into effect.

Mr. Smith was not satisfied, and demanded from Chairman Penrose an explanation of the disappearance of that feature from the bill. Mr. Penrose had adopted the policy of allowing the opponents of the measure to do the talking, and reluctantly he arose to reply.

"The change," he said, "occurred in the ways and means committee of the house, and the senator from Michigan knows as much about it as I do."

"The effect, then, is to give the Canadians free trade in paper and pulp, and not to give it to us," commented Mr. Smith. "And yet," he continued, "we are told by the house that we must not change a word in the bill as it was passed there for fear of impairing it."

Says Canada Fooled United States.

Mr. Nelson said the Canadians had outwitted the United States.

"The Canadians not only fooled us into putting their agricultural products on the free list," he said, "but they actually fooled the president as to his treaty-making power. He was misled, and he is as much at sea on that point as he is to what is in the interest of the American farmer."

Senator Cummins suggested the president had no power to enter into a treaty affecting tariff duties.

Mr. Nelson declared the treaty to be entirely for the benefit of the "big interests."

"Give us reciprocity," he pictured them as saying to the agriculturists; "give us reciprocity; you can go to the devil."

The reciprocity discussion will be resumed at 12 o'clock tomorrow if any senator is prepared to speak, which seemed uncertain tonight.

60 Votes for Reciprocity.

Washington, June 15.—The Canadian reciprocity bill now has 60 votes in the United States senate, according to the white house scunt. The Root amendment will be killed by a comfortable majority in the same body, the men who have studied the situation for President Taft say. The president has expressed the conviction that a combination of republicans and democrats would defeat the amendment, and two-thirds of the senate would vote for the bill itself.

They Padded Census Returns.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 15.—Fines of $150 and costs each against J. T. Sparks, J. P. Condit and William Henry on pleas on guilty of making false census returns as enumerators in this city at the last census were assessed today by Judge Trieber in the federal court. The original returns gave Fort Smith slightly in excess of 30,000. The returns as corrected by special agents of the government gave the city 23,278.

Troops Leaving Lexington.

Galveston, Texas, June 15.—The United States transports Kilpatrick and Sumner sailed this afternoon with 2,700 troops of the First and Third regiments of the brigade stationed here since the trouble broke out in Mexico. The transport McClellan is also loading, but will not get away for a day or two. All of these troops will be taken back to their regular assignments or to ports nearest their barracks which they will reach by rail.

More Postal Banks.

Washington, June 15.—Postmaster General Hitchcock today designated fifty additional postal savings banks, making a total of 700 established to date. Among the offices named today are the following: Fordyce, Ark.; Somerset, Ky.; Hobart, Okla.; Columbia, Tenn.; Corpus Christi, Texas, and Richwood, W. Va.

JOY AND HAPPINESS IN ANOTHER HOME

Mr. J. R. Echols, Better Known as "Bob," Who Resides at No. 8 Tennessee Avenue, With His Mother, Mrs. W. D. T. Gentry, the Grandmother of the 14-Year-Old Son, Curtis Echols, Who Has Been Sickly and Puny for Years, and Wednesday He Expelled a Monster 42-Foot Tape Worm, After Taking Quaker Extract Five Days, and Is Now Well.

It must be elating to the people of Atlanta to watch the wonderful good that's being accomplished through the use of the Quaker Herb Extract and the Oil of Balm. Every day Gray, the Quaker Health Teacher, has some report of the great work that's being done by Quaker Extract.

This time it is the report of Bob Echols, 14-year-old boy, expelling a monster tape worm and being brought back to a good healthy condition after the suffering the child has gone through for the past three years. His stomach would bloat, fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath, dizziness, pain in back of head, sometimes in lower bowels; nasty, slimy taste in mouth, especially in the morning; always eating enough for a man, but his food never seemed to do him any good. He continued to grow weaker day by day, had no ambition to play, like other boys of his age; the parents were very much alarmed about his condition. He has had several attacks of fevers, also bilious spells, but with all the treatments he continued to grow worse. The grandmother had been reading and hearing about Gray, at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street, and the great number of people and children who had been cured, some of long standing cases of rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble, and hundreds of children that have expelled worms, and all from the use of the wonderful Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm. She decided to call on Gray, the Quaker Health Teacher, and procure a treatment of Quaker Extract, and commenced giving it to the boy, and, to the Joy of all, after five days the child is well and hearty, and Quaker did it. Now Mr. Bob Echols, as he is known by his friends, is a well-known engineer of this city, and many of his friends will be pleased to learn the good news.

If any person doubts the genuineness of this case, investigate and find out if Gray does not tell the truth. Gray insists on the severest investigation, not only this case, but any name or address he gives you in the daily papers. Call today, have a talk with Gray; it costs you nothing. If you cannot call, order by mail; the remedies will be sent you by express, all charges prepaid, on orders of $3.00 or over. Quaker Herb Extract $1, or 3 for $2.50 and 6 for $5.00; Oil of Balm, 25c; Cough Syrup, 25c; All-Healing Salve, 35c; soap for skin and scalp, 3 for 25c. Gray proves what he says at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street.

GREAT SCOTT! DROP A COUPLE

CRACKERS DROP DOUBLE HEADER

Inability to Hit Prough Cos the First Game.

Barons Pound Miller in Second, Tying It Up---Errors Tossed It Away Then---Buemiller Made His Debut---Corbin Stars in the Field.

Birmingham, Ala., June 15.—(Special.)—The Barons defeated the Crackers this afternoon in both games of a double-header. The victory in the first was due to the excellence of the pitching of Prough and the ease with which Frock was solved. The big Baron held the Crackers in the palm of his hand all the way, and but one of them, Corbin, managed to connect with his benders.

But for foolish base running on the part of the Barons, the score would have been larger. Three of the locals were thrown out at the plate.

In the second game the Barons overcame a 4-run lead by hammering "Doggie" Miller from the hill in the fourth frame. In the beginning of the inning the fans got after Miller and their hooting got the best of him. He began by walking Marcan and Phelan bingled through Jordan. Molesworth popped out, but Tannehill cut one sharply to center. McGilvray then beat one out to first, and Johnston bingled to center. Yantz followed with a smash to right, and with the score tied, Johns was substituted. He retired the side without additional trouble.

In the second game Corbin got away with the fielding honors. He robbed Yantz of a home run drive with one hand, and by covering a world of territory robbed Phelan of another which was headed for Home-run alley.

A large gathering of the fans witnessed the double bill. In the first game the Barons scored in the second. Tannehill opened with a hit to short, and McGilvray scored him on a triple to right. The blow-off came in the fifth. Ellam opened with a single and Prough sacrificed him to second. Marvan drew a pass, and Phelan hit one through Corbin for a home run.

In the beginning of the second the Crackers jumped on crippled Wagner as if determined to crush him at once. Zimmerman was hit with the ball and was scored on Corbin's triple. Corbin scored on O'Dell's single. In the second Sykes was walked and sacrificed to second. Zimmerman's hit over second scored him. In the third, with one down, O'Dell was walked. On Watson's fielder's choice, he took second and went to third on Marcan's error. He and Watson then worked the double steal.

Four runs behind, the Barons got next to Miller in the fourth, and, as already described, drove him from the pit and scored four runs.

Then ensued a strenuous scrap for the winning run. Several times the Crackers threatened, but in each instance Wagner tightened up and extinguished their hopes. In the eighth, Molesworth opened with a single over second. On a passed ball by Wells, he took second. Tannehill then put down a perfect bunt and Molesworth took third to score a moment later, when Johns, attempting the impossible task of catching Tannehill at first, threw past that bag a block.

The Crackers complained of the work of Umpire Byron from the opening inning of the first game to the closing of the second. At one time Foxen, who was coaching, refused to get on the players' bench, and was ordered from the field. He refused to go, and Byron commissioned an officer to eject him.

EDDIE KILLIAN BOUGHT BY VOLS

President W. H. Hirsig announces that a deal has just been put through whereby Nashville has purchased Pitcher Killian, who has been with the Detroit Tigers for a number of years.

Just when the pitcher will report has not been decided upon, but it is likely that he will join the club before they are home from the present road trip.

Killian has been with the Detroit club for six years. Last year his pitching average was .571 and his fielding 1.000.

The addition of Killian and Atchison of the Brooklyn club will materially strengthen the local pitching staff, and after these men get accustomed to the conditions down here, they should be able to help pull Nashville right up with the leaders of the Southern League.—Nashville Tennessean.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—Chattanooga hit the ball so often, so hard and so far today that Montgomery got tired of fielding it, result 15 to 4. In the second inning, after two were out, a series of errors mixed up with hits netted six runs for the visitors. This so completely demoralized the Montgomery players that they never recovered. Benton was well nigh invincible, but Gribbens and Pratt each got a home run.

New Orleans, June 15.—Nashville won a hard-fought game from the home team today by the score of 3 to 2. The locals' errors helped the visitors. Manager Frank tried hard to win the game in the seventh, sending in Klawitter to bat for Fraser and Angermier to bat for Johnston, both continuing in the game. Welchonce reported to Nashville today, and played his first game with that team.

It is understood that a Sunday League which was organized in the city several weeks ago is still considering the advisability of injunctive proceedings to stop the games.

COBB SETS STANDARD FOR ALL NEW PLAYERS

Ever since Ty Cobb has demonstrated that he is the greatest ball player the game has ever developed, a much higher standard is being asked of the young players who come into fast company. Every player, almost, is compared with the mighty Cobb, and naturally loses in comparison. There are not apt to be any more Cobbs for years, and the sooner the club owners realize this fact and will be satisfied with developing players of much less ability the better they will be off.

Simply because a player is not in Cobb's class does not mean that he cannot be a valuable man for the team. Cobb should be eliminated from all comparisons. The club which turns down youngsters simply because they do not show the making of a player of the caliber of the Tigers' star is going to have a hard time building up a ball team.

A club like Washington, for instance, cannot be too particular in its selection of material. It must take long chances, for it must be remembered that, regardless of what happens, it can be no worse off than it is. Twenty ball players may have to be purchased before one is found who will furnish the link that is now missing to make the team a winner, and, judged on recent performance, McAleer needs more than one link to complete his chain.—Grillo, in Washington Star.

Arthur Middleton, a Washington boy, by reason of being the only one of 13 candidates to pass the examination for appointment to the navy, becomes at 22 the youngest member of the pay corps.

MANAGER CLARK GRIFFITH LIKELY TO LOSE HIS JOB

Cincinnati, June 15.—There has been a world of gossip going on in and out of Cincinnati for the past several weeks regarding Manager Clark Griffith, of the Reds, and his remaining at the helm of the Cincinnati club. Before he came to Cincinnati three seasons ago Griffith was the manager of the New York Highlanders, and before that he was the manager of the White Sox in Chicago. He had perhaps as brilliant a career as a pitcher as any man who ever threw balls and strikes. Since he has been in the managerial end of the game he has won just one pennant, that with the White Sox, and came so close to it with the Highlanders that there was a lot of kicking because he lost the pennant in the last game.

In Cincinnati Griffith hasn't had a successful season during his stay here. He finished in the first division year before last, and then led the second brigade, trailing the dust made by the Phillies.

To sum it up, Griffith is about to lose his job unless the team gets to working better. Some say he has until July 1 to make a showing, and that unless he comes to the front by that time Captain Mitchell will be placed in charge until his successor is appointed.

Macon Team Beaten.

Americus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Macon's aggregation, the Athletics, sustained overwhelming defeat this afternoon at the hands of the Americus champs, the visitors being shut out by score of 14 to 0. Wilder's phenomenal pitching proved the undoing of the Macon ball contingent, the Americus twirler surrendering but two hits, while Duke, for Macon, was batted freely.

Macon possesses an excellent team in the Athletics, but with Baby Wilder in the box they proved no match for Americus. Six hundred spectators witnessed the game.

ATLANTA TEAM LOSES THE TITLE

Ramspeck and Orr Beaten at Tennis by Brooks and Bartlett.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—The tennis championship for the Cotton States' doubles was won this afternoon on the Country Club court by Brooks and Bartlett, of Birmingham, from Ramspeck and Orr, of Atlanta, who were defending the cup they won last year.

The score was: 7-5; 4-6; 7-5; 6-1.

Just before the last match, Brooks and Bartlett defeated Edgar and Harold in the finals by a score of 6-3; 6-3; 6-4.

Brooks defeated Holt in the Alabama singles by a score of 4-6; 6-2; 6-4.

Brooks also won from Wheeler in a stubborn contest in the Cotton States' singles by the score of 6-3; 9-7; 6-0.

Finals in singles of both the tournaments will be settled when Brooks meets Edgar, the holder of both cups tomorrow. It will mark the close of the tournament.

RED SOX ASK WAIVERS ON FOUR PLAYERS

John I. Taylor of the Boston club, is on the verge of making another housecleaning of his ball club. He has asked for waivers on Heinie Wagner, Ray Collins, Cicotte and Engle. It is needless to say that these players will not get out of the American League. Manager McAleer admitted this morning that he had refused to waive on any one of the quartet, and there are reasons for believing that none of the other clubs will take a different course. Wagner, Collins, Engle and Cicotte would come pretty near to making a fairly good ball club. Of course, it does not follow that Taylor will let any of them go. His asking of waivers may be more of a feeler for a trade than anything else, though he has been known to cut out good ball players before.

The report that Hugh Duffy had gone to Boston to make a trade is denied. It seems that the Chicago manager went to Providence to look after his interests in that club. Jimmy Collins, who managed the team, has been let out, and Duffy has gone there to take a hand in the appointment of a new manager.

McAleer could use the four men Taylor has asked waivers on, but he is doubtful if he will get a chance at any one of them.—Washington Star.

White Caps Lose.

Roanoke, Ala., June 15.—(Special.)—A tight game between Anderson's White Caps, Atlanta and Roanoke, was won by the latter in nine innings, by the score of 4 to 3 this afternoon. CHAMPION HAMMER THROWER WHO WILL RETURN TO AMERICA

JOHN FLANAGAN

John Flanagan, the world's champion hammer-thrower, who has been abroad for nearly a year, will return to America in the fall and is expected to set a new world's record in the metropolitan championship in September. In a letter to a friend here Flanagan says that he is heavier than ever and in recent trials has beaten his own mark by several feet. He will remain on the other side until after the coronation of King George, competing in the English championships during coronation week, the Irish championships, the international meet in London and the dual meet between Ireland and Scotland. When the giant weight-thrower left New York last year he declared that he would never return. He has evidently reconsidered this decision. Besides being the world's record holder in throwing the 16-pound hammer, he ranks with the best men in the country in throwing the 56-pound weight for height and distance. He can also throw the discus and javelin a good distance.

PERTINENT VIEWS ON THINGS TIMELY

BY DICK'S DOPUM.

Editorially, The Baseball Magazine in its latest number, comments on another pest to the great national pastime, baseball—the fellow who is always throwing aspersions on the honesty of the game.

This fellow is even more of a pest than "the croaker." Baseball has been kept free from taint, more so than any other sport alive, and for some numskull to sit in the grandstand and cast reflections on the honesty of the game is in itself despicable and worthy of the shallow-minded person he is.

Stories have been sent out all over the league that Memphis had asked waivers on Catcher Donohue, Outfielder Baerwald and Pitcher Goodwin. Who is responsible for this should get the fine that goes for giving out waivers.

Not only that, the writer of the article had better get his facts correct before sending them out. Catcher Knotts is the only man on whom waivers have been asked. It looked ridiculous on the face of it that waivers were being asked on Baerwald, the leading hitter of the team.

There is one player who has demonstrated that he is the exception to the "can't come back" rule. This fellow is Jimmy Callahan, of the White Sox. The veteran is hitting at a .391 clip, stands ninth in base stealers, and is fielding with all his old-time form. Truly his case is wonderful, and he deserves a world of credit for what he has accomplished.

Pittsburg, June 15.—President Russell, of the Boston National League team, announced last night that John Kling, recently acquired from the Chicago Nationals, will be appointed manager of the Boston team.

HULL OF THE MAINE BADLY SHATTERED

As Water Recedes Worse and Worse Conditions Are Revealed.

Havana, June 15.—That the shattering of the hull of the battleship Maine is evidently far greater than supposed was revealed this afternoon, as a result of a supercial observation made possible by the lowering of the water level in the cofferdam a total depth of seven feet.

On account of this revelation all plans for dealing with the ultimate removal of the hulk have become merely conjectural until more water has been pumped out. As the water receded today every successive foot revealed worse and worse conditions forward of midships. That part was subjected to the main force of the explosion.

The bow section is still nearly twenty feet below the surface and here it is believed the destruction will be found to have been even more complete.

Postmasters Confirmed.

MEXICO IS WARNED BY UNITED STATES

That Order Must Be Restored in Lower California.

Washington, June 15.—Two Americans, Dr. Foster and Patrick Glenon, have been killed in Alamo, Mexico, and Mr. Sawdat, the American vice consul at Ensenada, in reporting the fact to the state department, adds that there is dangerous turbulence at Ensenada, and that the Mexicans causing the trouble were, to a great extent, recruited in the United States, some being reported to be neutralized American citizens. The state department has reminded the Mexican government that some time ago it gave permission for Mexican troops to cross American territory with a view to the restoration of peace and order in lower California, and that it is now depending upon Mexico to make these outrages impossible.

Keating Pleads Guilty.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15.—George Michael Keating, for a number of years deputy clerk of the United States court at Montgomery, pleaded guilty in the federal court today to embezzling government funds while clerk. A sentence of one year and one day, imposed upon him by Judge Jones, was suspended indefinitely for execution because of Keating's physical condition.

Gompers to Aid Strikers.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—The striking garment workers received word tonight that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will arrive in Cleveland early next week to attempt a settlement of the strike. J. P. Dawley, counsel for the strikers, will go to New York tomorrow to confer with officials of the garment workers' union there in an effort to enlist their aid financially and otherwise for the Cleveland strikers.

EL PASO GAINS PORTION OF LAND

In Long Drawn Out Chamizal Zone Case.

Mexico Given Part of Land in Question by International Arbitration Court---Both United States and Mexico Dissent. Decision Regarded a Failure.

El Paso, Texas, June 15.—The international arbitration court, which has been sitting in the so-called Chamizal zone case in El Paso to decide ownership of seven million dollars' worth of property in the southern part of El Paso, today rendered its decision, which is a compromise. The decision gives Mexico part of the land in question, and El Paso part of it. Both the United States and Mexico dissent.

Long in Contention.

The Chamizal case has been in contention between the American and Mexican governments for more than a dozen years. It was brought to the fore when W. J. Warder, of California, filed a suit here to oust persons holding title to the land under the Texas laws, Warder alleging that he held title from Mexico. Warder declared the land had been thrown into the United States by a sudden change of the river, and that, therefore, it belonged to Mexico, according to treaty.

The United States has contended that the change, which, according to treaty, would give the land to the United States, in the river has been gradual. But Mexico cites numerous full-grown trees between the former river channel and the present river on American soil as proof that the change had not been gradual, and that the land remains Mexican soil.

The two governments being unable to agree on the ownership of the land, a treaty was adopted providing for arbitration.

Tract Part of El Paso.

The tract is and always has been physically and geographically a part of the city of El Paso, Texas. About 6,000 of the 40,000 inhabitants of El Paso live upon the tract.

The opinion and award of the commission are indecisive. The net result of the opinions of the three commissioners which agree only on certain points is an attempted division of the tract between the United States and Mexico, the suggested dividing line being the channel of the river as it ran in 1884—a line which the commission does not attempt to relocate and which is impossible of relocation.

The decision marks a notable departure. It is the first attempt, so far as is known in the history of jurisprudence, to divide accretion land upon the theory that slow erosion would change the boundary line, and that rapid erosion would not.

A vigorous dissenting opinion was filed by the American commissioner, in which he takes the ground that the commission exceeded its jurisdiction in attempting to divide the tracts; that it failed to apply the rule of law prescribed by the treaty between the United States and Mexico in 1884, and, finally, that the award is uncertain in its terms and impossible of application.

Not Judicial Determination.

In concluding his opinion he says that the award "breathed the spirit of unconscious but nevertheless unauthorized compromise rather than of judicial determination."

The Mexican commissioner, also, filed a vigorous dissenting opinion. The agent of the United States, upon his own motion and subject to the consideration and action of the United States government, filed a suggestion of protest on the ground that the commission had departed from the terms of the submission; that the award was uncertain and impossible of application; that the presiding commissioner on certain points had failed to state his reasons as required by the convention submitting the case, and because of essential error of law and fact.

Decision Regarded a Failure.

Washington, June 15.—As understood, the decision in the Chamizal zone case means a practical failure of the tribunal. It is believed here that the whole case must be relegated to diplomatic adjustment.

THEATERS

"Polly Primrose."

At the Lyric.

Tremendous audiences greeted Little Emma Bunting at the Lyric on Thursday and the advance sale for the three remaining performances of the delighting "Polly Primrose," is quite sufficient to insure the average great attendence the week has shown—the greatest number of people Emma Bunting has ever played to in Atlanta in the same period.

It is the charming personality of the pleasing little actress that has had so much to do with the success of the attraction this summer, and the fact that she has personally selected the plays that have been presented, and that her company is so far superior to any she has been identified with here.

Motion Pictures.

At the Forsyth.

Pictures continue to deeply interest a good many hundred people, who visit the cool and pleasant busy Forsyth from noon until late at night daily. The program of pictures is changed daily, and "a mile of motion pictures" is used about every hour. The subjects are all good, they are exhibited in splendid fashion and there is not a thing left undone to make the exhibition a decided innovation in the Forsyth style of entertainment and has certainly added to the popularity of the theater.

In addition to the pictures next week, the management has arranged for the services of a quartette of lady vocalists and musicians who will appear from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock every afternoon and from 8 until 11 o'clock in the evenings.

Albany, N. Y., June 15.—State regulation of cold storage plants is provided for in a bill signed by Governor Dix tonight. The new law provides that no goods shall be kept in storage for more than ten months, except butter products, which may be held twelve months.

NATION-WIDE FIGHT ON HIGH-HEELED SHOES

New York Judge Says That Such Shoes Are Barbarous.

Troy, N. Y., June 15.—A nation-wide movement to fight the wearing of high-heeled shoes is the plan of Judge E. W. Howard, of the supreme court of New York. In an address here last night Justice Howard said to an audience of women:

"The wearing of high-heel shoes is as barbarous and as toorturing and as destructive of health as Chinese wooden shoes. It is as heathenish and outlandish as wearing rings in the nose or tattooing the face and it breeds an ungainly and deformed race. The obsolete civilization of China feels proud of another kind. Each resulted in walking monstrosities. Can I urge you to go out and advocate normal feet, such as God gave? Have you the courage to speak out against this silly fashion—a fashion as destructive as rum, as deadly as opium—or are you to be counted among its devotees?"

THE WAY TO FIGURE IT.

If you go to the Boston convention you will meet many live men in your line of business. You will have many quiet chats, when business will be discussed. A chance remark of some one of the men you will talk with will set some wheels going round in your head, and before you realize it you will have shaped up some proposition that will be worth a lot of money to you, or to the man who pays you a salary, which is the same thing. You know it works that way. There is a lot of good soil in all of our minds. It is the seed-thought that we all need. And it is the man we lock arms with who furnishes that seed thought.

Coming to this convention is going to be just like going to a great thought seed store. We can look the stock over, study the catalog and order such packets as we think our soil will germinate. That is just what this convention is going to be—a great thought seed store.

RATES ON LOCOMOTIVES FIXED BY COMMISSION

And Also Rates on Tenders. Atlanta Firm Made Complaint.

Washington, June 15.—Freight rates on locomotives and tenders, "live" and "dead" on their own wheels, were fixed today by the interstate commerce commission. The rates shall not exceed 30 cents a mile for "live" locomotives, or 6 mills a ton per mile for "dead" locomotives, the latter being graded to 5 mills a ton per mile as the distance of the shipment increases.

Two Convicts Killed.

Birmingham, Ala., June 15.—Dynamite with a cap and fuse placed in a miner's lamp by a convict caused the death of two negro convicts at the mines of the Bessemer Coal, Iron and Land Company at Belle Ellen early this morning. The convicts were just getting ready to go into the mines and the stockade yard was full of men. The convict whose lamp was full of dynamite had lighted the lamp when a second convict came up and asked for a light. The explosion followed.

Spanish Workmen Against Diaz

Vigo, Spain, June 15.—The Mexican minister to Portugal has arrived here to receive General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico. The workmen and members of the progressive party are organizing a manifesto of protest against Diaz if the ex-president lands. This is unlikely as the steamer Ypiranga will arrive at an early hour and will remain only a short time in port.

Grover Cleveland Memorial.

Newark, N. J., June 15.—Former United States Senator John F. Dryden outlined today to the trustees of the Cleveland memorial fund the result of the canvass for popular subscriptions towards providing a fund of $100,000 for a memorial tower to be erected at Princeton to the late Grover Cleveland. The fund has been over-subscribed nearly $7,000, Mr. Dryden said. The tower will be attached to the graduate building now in course of construction at Princeton University.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

SHARP BREAK MADE IN THE COTTON MARKET

Reports of Rain in Texas and Lower Cables Factors in Decline.

New York, June 15.—Reports of rain in the southwest were followed by even more general and active liquidation than yesterday in the cotton market today, and prices broke very sharply with the close steady, but at a net loss of from 12 to 26 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6@14 points, in response to private rain reports from Texas and lower cables. There was good buying by leading bull brokers on the decline, but offerings were too heavy to be absorbed, except on a scale down, and while a slight rally followed the western belt forecast, which held out no definite promise of further showers in Texas, the market soon weakened again, and, in the late forenoon showed a net loss of from 27 to 32 points on the old crop, and of 19 points on new crop positions.

Trading in the old crop months was not active, but July led the decline in the absence of support, selling at 15.20, or 32 points under the closing figures of last night and 93 points below the high record of the season.

New crop deliveries were very active and excited on the break which carried October contracts off to 13.34, or 45 points below the high price of the earlier week, but it was thought that the heavy selling and stop loss orders responsible for the sharp decline had considerably helped the technical position, and following the official weather details, showing only light showers at six or seven stations in Texas, the market rallied 12 or 13 points from the lowest, on covering of shorts and renewed support from the bull leaders. The undertone remained very nervous, however, and fluctuations in the late trading were irregular, with prices failing to hold advances owing to private reports of further rains in the Fort Worth district and in Oklahoma. The close was only 6 or 7 points up from the lowest. Wall street was a heavy seller during the day, presumably for both accounts. The south was also a seller here, and about the only demand, aside from covering by recent sellers, was that from the prominent bull brokers and trade interests, who seemed to feel that the rains so far reported had been insufficient to permanently relieve the drouth.

Receipts today, 1,360 bales against 1,746 last week and 5,071 last year. For the week, 15,000 bales against 20,009 last week and 24,545 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 956 bales against 2,873 last year, and at Houston, 99 bales against 108 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 15 points lower; middling uplands, 15.65; middling gulf, 15.90; no sales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 15.—Spot cotton quiet, 1-16c lower; sales on the spot, 330; to arrive, none; middling, 15⅝; low ordinary, 11 15-16, nominal; ordinary, 12⅝, nominal; good ordinary, 14 3-16; strict good ordinary, 14 9-16; low middling, 14⅞; strict low middling, 15¼; middling, 15⅝; strict middling, 15⅝; good middling, 15 13-16; strict good middling, 16; middling fair, 16¼; middling fair to fair, 16⅝; fair, 17, nominal; receipts, 956; stock, 78,267.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 1 to 7 points on the old crop months and a decline of 7 to 9 points on the new. Cables were unfavorable and private telegrams told of showers in Texas, although the weather map showed practically no rain in any part of the cotton country. All the moisture indicated was .10 of an inch at Fort Worth, Texas, and .02 at Raleigh, N. C. The trade was inclined to accept private reports of rains in the west and selling was free around the first call. July sold at an advance of 1 point, but this was the only month to exhibit any strength. Soon after the opening, the list stood 5 to 11 points under yesterday's close. Shorts took profits on the decline and brought about a small recovery.

At the end of the first half hour of business the list was 3 to 8 down.

The market was nervous and unsettled from the early trading. Reports concerning the Texas weather were very conflicting. Private accounts from reliable houses told of good rains, but the supplementary weather reports stated that of the 49 towns in the Houston weather district, which district comprises the whole of Texas, only three noted rains over .10 of an inch. These points were Corsicana, .22; Dallas, .44, and Waxahachie, .70. Discouraged longs let go freely and bears found the market soft enough to warrant their attacking it.

Around the middle of the morning, selling was heavy and the list was put 14 to 22 points under yesterday's close. July showed the most weakness. Profit-taking by scalping shorts checked the decline and at noon prices were 12 to 15 points under yesterday's last quotations.

In the afternoon session, the market was quiet; fluctuations were not important.

At 2 o'clock the list was 11 to 15 points under yesterday's close.

The market closed barely steady at a net decline of 9 to 19 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 15.—The undertone of the cotton goods market is stronger, with trade still continuing moderate. Fancy cotton novelties are being shown for the new season. Cotton yarns are quiet. In men's wear buyers are beginning to look at new spring lines.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, June 15.—Closing: Cotton spot moderate business done; prices 7 points lower; American middling, fair, 8.84; good middling 8.52; middling, 8.30; low middling, 8.10; good ordinary, 7.84; ordinary, 7.59. The sales of the day were 7,000 bales, of which 700 were for speculation and export, and included 5700 Americas. No receipts. Futures opened easy and closed barely steady.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 15.—With indifferent advices from abroad and some private reports of rains in Texas, our market opened easier and showed much weakness during the day. Some support was given, but selling predominated and continued and the market was nervous and irregular. The rains in Texas were confined to some half dozen places and the highest temperatures of the season are noted there. Outside interest is lacking. Apart from Texas, the condition of the crop is excellent, with ample time yet for moisture. The weakness of the market is the large long interest and noting this, the shorts are not easily affected. Yarn reports are more bearish. The market is a weather one and the trading mainly local.

Report on Foreign Agriculture.

Washington, June 15.—A bumper harvest of wheat in British India, estimated at 369,000,000 bushels, surpassing all previous, and a record area sown to spring wheat in western Canada, where 90 per cent of the Dominion wheat is grown, giving rise to seemingly extravagant estimates of probable yields, are the features of the world's review of agricultural news, announced by the department of agriculture today. In other respects, foreign agriculture in general made average seasonable progress.

In Argentina, the great wheat and flaxseed exporter of the southern hemisphere, the autumn crops have entered their first month of transequatorial winter in vigorous condition and on probably largely increased areas. The recently-gathered corn crop there turned out badly and little or no surplus will be available for export. The crop of South Africa, also, is reported damaged by drouth and there practically will be none for export.

STOCKS MAKE SPURT, THEN FALL BACKWARD

Advance in Early Trading Due to Marking Up Quotations to London Level.

New York, June 15.—After a burst of activity at higher prices early in the day the stock market fell backward slowly to a level which showed small losses generally. The early display of strength gave way to comparative weakness, speculative interests languished and prices remain stationary until late in the day, when they yielded still further.

The rise in prices at the opening consisted of little more than the marking up of quotations to the higher level established in London. Most of the market leaders were included in this movement and United States steel opened "wide" with a block of 5,000 shares. The Hill stocks were distinctly strong in the early trading, although they later were among the weakest of the standard shares and the average price of railway issues, which for the last month has been creeping upward slowly, mounted to the highest of the year.

The fertilizer stocks were the first to show decided weakness. The speculative community seemingly has arrived at the conclusion that some readjustment or change of dividend disbursements is imminent in these issues. This belief is heightened by recent statements of earnings which reflect adverse conditions last season, on account of the scarcity and high price of cotton seed.

Copper shares lost a part of their recent gains, despite another slight advance in the prices of the metal. Crop news is being awaited with more interest than anything else and reports of rains in districts where it was needed badly were the most welcome events of the day. An elaborate railroad report of crops in the northwest contained the prophesy of unusually large w'elds.

The first Chinese loan to be offered in this country was placed on the market and was understood to have been over-subscribed heavily. Unusual interest attaches to this transaction, which, in the opinion of those who are familiar with the prolonged diplomatic interchanges which preceded it, may open to American trade opportunities in Manchuria, which are not enjoyed at present.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,326,000. United States fours declined ¼ on call.

By Joseph Wardin.

Some people advocate the use of pullets for breeders instead of hens, because it is cheaper to raise pullets than it is to carry hens through the moult. This is a mistake, and while it is desirable to retain each year as many of the best pullets as one can, there is, on the other hand, no reason why a hen should be disposed of before she is two or three years old, unless it is because of some point more undesirable than her age.

Few pullets lay before they are six or seven months old, and this period of time is a total loss, while hens should not moult in three months or less, and may lay an occasional egg during this time if conditions are favorable. Then it must also be considered that if one has fifty hens and is raising fifty pullets to take their places, they must provide house room for 100 birds.

A hen can properly be kept in service for two or three years for breeding purposes. She will have been raised but once, and approximately speaking, loses no time after reaching maturity. But, on the other hand, let us suppose that it costs 75 cents to raise a pullet from the egg until the time when she commences to lay, to say nothing of the time lost in raising her. If the hen is retained for but one year, she monopolizes the entire sum of 75 cents and must lay 75 cents' worth of eggs before she can begin to give a profit over her first cost, while she must also be supported while doing this. But if she is kept for two years, the first cost of raising her is only 37½ cents a year, if kept two years.

The continued sacrificing of hens and then the replacing of them with pullets is harmful, for to use pullets that are not full developed is to use immature mothers. It is a well-known fact that strong, vigorous chicks are more frequently secured from hens that are least two years old than from pullets, because the hens have attained their maximum strength and vitality, and their reproductive organs are at their best. When eggs from pullets are used year after year from which to hatch the breeders for the next year, nothing other than the deterioration of the flock can result. This is caused not by lack of new blood, but by lack of vigor in the present parent stock. Understand, I am not saying a word against pullets as layers, when eggs and eggs alone are desired; birds in their first or second year will produce a greater number of eggs than hens older than that. Neither am I saying a word against the use of well-matured and well-developed pullets as breeding birds—the trouble is that a majority of farmers who use pullets at all use immature stock, many of them selling the earliest hatched birds each year on account of the higher prices to be received at that time. Does this apply to you? No, not the person next to you, but you.

ATLANTA IS THE OPEN DOOR TO GILT-EDGED REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS. ENTER AND INVITE PROSPERITY TO SMILE UPON YOU

Right now Atlanta is attracting more attention than any city in America. Real estate is cheaper here now than it will ever be again, and now is the time to invest, in advance of the rapid rise in values which is sure to come.

The wildest apparent exaggerations about Atlanta are but the foothills around the summit of truth. You can exaggerate about some things, but you can't exaggerate about Atlanta.

No one ever lost a dollar on Atlanta real estate, and many have made thousands.

Atlanta real estate is the confidence of certainty. There is not an addition in Atlanta in which the prices of lots has not advanced from one hundred to one thousand per cent.

He who invests in Atlanta TODAY is a capitalist TOMORROW!

Take any addition in Atlanta that you know of.

What were the lots worth when the addition was first put on the market?

What are these same lots worth today? Who made the money out of them?

THE PEOPLE WHO BOUGHT AT THE TIME THESE LOTS WERE FIRST SOLD!

Atlanta is the most prosperous city in America today and is the only growing city that invites you to come in on "Ground Floor" prices.

Investments in Atlanta real estate are sure to bring rich returns, and he who invests dollars will receive hundreds, and he who invests hundreds will receive thousands. The investor can make no mistake on Atlanta real estate. Atlanta stands today on the threshold of a great development. A few dollars invested here now is bound to yield a golden harvest.

The people who a few years ago were far-sighted enough to invest in Atlanta real estate are wealthy today!

The next few years will show even a more rapid rise in values.

Atlanta hasn't started to grow yet!

You are aware of the fact that Fortunes are now being made here on real estate, as fortunes never were made before.

There has been no place in the world that within the same space of time where real estate values have increased so rapidly and so much money has been made on lots, as in Atlanta.

If success is worth having, it's worth having right NOW.

In Atlanta—the best city on the map—every nail driven, every brick laid in the wall, every house built, every new enterprise started helps to make YOUR investment more profitable.

You are not fighting your battle alone. You have thousands of brainy, energetic men and women helping to build a city.

Be among the first and reap the rich rewards. Buy! Buy! Buy! and keep on buying while the prices are within your reach.

21 CHOICE RESIDENCE LOTS 21

ARE READY TO BUILD ON.

FOR SALE AT AUCTION

Saturday, June 17, at 3 P. M.

On the Premises

A SUBDIVISION of the I. N. Ragsdale property in Oakland City, located in the heart of the Tenth ward, surrounded by the best homes in that section.

THE LOTS front on new streets, one of which starts near Colonel Ragsdale's elegant home and runs into the property from Lee street. The other starts from Oakland avenue, between the Baptist church and Mr. E. P. Ryan's home, giving the property two approaches, each of which is from a prominent street.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS DOWN AND PAID FOR.

COLONEL RAGSDALE has given the development of this property his personal attention, and it shows it. The streets are nicely graded. The tile sidewalks and curbings are laid in front of every lot. City water will be run, and the sewerage system for this property, as well as for this section, has already been planned and adopted by the city authorities.

REMEMBER, that these streets are not just plowed lines, but are regular graded streets, with curbing and sidewalks down. THE CITY HAS ACCEPTED THESE STREETS, which means that they will be kept up by the city.

LOTS READY TO BUILD ON.

THESE are the lots to buy, either for home sites or for speculation, because they are ready to build on. In addition to this, every lot is a beauty, with nice young oak shade trees scattered over them. Also because their location is excellent. They are only a short distance from the business center of Oakland city. Only two blocks from the city school and near the churches, and the furthest lot is only two blocks from the car line; and, best of all, they are, socially, in the swim.

THE CAR SERVICE IS THE BEST IN THE CITY. A car every five minutes in each direction.

THESE lots should appeal to anyone looking for a nice lot on which to build a home, because the surroundings are correct.

THESE lots should appeal to the speculator and builder, because they are sure to be bought by good people and because houses built on them will find ready sale.

THESE LOTS AND THIS SECTION WILL GROW STEADILY AND RAPIDLY, BOTH IN POPULATION AND IN VALUE, because there are natural reasons why West End can not build in any other direction, beyond certain limitations. CATCH THAT?

BECAUSE this section has no objectionable features.

BECAUSE it is logically the place for the people to live in who are engaged in business or who are employed among the many industrial, manufacturing and railroad enterprises around the Terminal section, Whitehall street, Peters street and the Central and West Point railroads and the adjacent territory. The car service and the way the streets ETAOIN these statements to be true. Think about it, and you'll see it as we do.

SUGGESTIONS.

IF you have idle money, invest it here and watch it grow. If you are looking for a place to build a home, investigate these lots. They should suit you. If you want to build a house to sell, buy one or more of these lots. We can sell the houses for you, because the environment is right. REMEMBER that land is land, anywhere. Its location is what determines its value.

THE TERMS ARE RIGHT.

EVERY LOT will be sold on terms of $100 cash and the balance in $15 monthly payments, with 7 per cent simple interest. All notes will be made payable on or before maturity, so that you may take them up as fast as you like, thereby saving interest.

HOW TO GET THERE:

CAPTAIN SAVES HIS PASSENGERS

Sixty-Five Persons Aboard Ohio River Steamer Have Close Call.

Paducah, Ky., June 15.—Quick work on the part of Captain John L. Lowry, of the steamer John L. Lowry, saved the lives of sixty-five persons at 1:30 o'clock this morning when the boat burned opposite Smithland, Ky., in the Ohio river.

With fifty excursionists and the crew of fifteen the craft was slowly making its way up the river in midstream when fire broke out near the engines from unknown cause.

Roused from their sleep, the passengers crowded onto the decks in a near panic and only coolness of the boatsmen averted a heavy loss of life. Several barrels of oil exploded, but miraculously hurt no one.

Seeing the fire was to about consume the craft, Captain Lowry made for the Illinois side with all speed. By the time the nose of the steamer touched shore the fire had gained great headway, but the passengers got off without injury. A roll call of passengers showed every one present and none injured. It had not been determined this morning whether any of the negro deck hands had been burned, but it is believed they, too, escaped.

The John L. Lowry is in the regular trade between this city and Evansville. At this season excursion rates are put on for the round trip, hence the large number of persons aboard. The boat is a total loss.

First reports reaching here were that many persons had been drowned and relief boats were sent out. Residents of Smithland watched the fire from the Kentucky side. No relief was sent from there.

GIRLS AT CORNELL WIN HIGHEST HONORS

Although but One of Every Fifteen Students Is a Girl.

New York, June 15.—Although but one of every fifteen students at Cornell is a woman, the fair sex this year carried off the two highest honors at the commencement exercises of the university medical school here. The first two John Metcalfe Polk prizes, the most important of the commencement awards, went to the Misses Helen Dudley and Elvira Dudley Dean, while four of ten honor roll graduates in a class for forty-seven are women.

"We have more than 6,000 students on the university roll," said President Schurman, of Cornell, in announcing the awards, "and of these but 400 are women. Yet you cannot take up a list of honors without finding names of women high in the list."

exception of three or four which the chief of police did not want.

It is expected that there will be quite a lively time in council next Monday when the question of reducing the near beer zone is taken up.

Card From Mr. McClelland.

The Constitution has received the following card from Mr. McClelland:

Editor Constitution: In order that my position may be fully understood with reference to the action of the police this afternoon in dealing with the zone of the near beer question, and with the objections made to certain saloons on Peters and Mitchell streets, I desire to say that I was opposed to granting a license on Mitchell street, and voted against a resolution offered by Alderman Van Dyke to do so; but it was evident from the start that they would either grant all licenses or cut the beer zone down to Walker on Peters street, to the viaduct on Mitchell, to Fort on Decatur and to Jones avenue on Marietta street.

I, therefore, offered a resolution that council cut the zone down to these; but, after reconsidering, and my attention being called to the fact that all of the dealers living outside of the zone proposed had already paid their state and county tax for the year, and the further fact that it would reduce the income of the city some $9,000, I felt that this was too radical a change to be made by a committee. I, therefore, offered a resolution reconsidering the entire matter.

I believe that the committee should have done what council did last year with reference to Edgewood avenue—that they should give those interested a given time to vacate these districts. Near beer has been legalized by the state, and is licensed by the city, and parties have vested rights in licenses that they have bought and paid for. After the license is once paid it cannot be refunded. Therefore, however much I may believe that the zone should be cut down, and that each neighborhood should have the right to control its own affairs, I don't believe that the property rights should be confiscated without giving due notice.

It is a matter that I feel a committee should not pass on; it is a question that council has dealt with a long time, and one that involves so much revenue of the city and affects so many people, that I think it is a matter for council, as a whole, to say what they desire to do about it. I do not desire to shift any responsibility, and yet, on the other hand, I do not want to assume the arrogance of asking council to make such a vital change simply on the recommendation of a committee. J. E. MCLELLAND.

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE'S LOVER

played with the Detroit American League team, Montreal Eastern League Club, and the Trenton Tri-State League team, from which he was purchased by Albany two years ago. He was 26 years old.

Mrs. McStea is 23 years old and a native of Albany. She was an actress, and while in New Orleans two years ago married McStea, who was stage director at the theater where she appeared. She has been in Albany since April. Her stage name was Mildred Barre.

McStea Managed Augusta Bijou.

Augusta, Ga., June 15.—J. V. McStea was manager for the B'jou theater here this past season, one of Jake Wells' houses. He came to Augusta from New Orleans, where he had been manager and stage director of the Orpheum theater for a number of years.

His wife spent part of the season on two occasions here with him, having left Augusta for Albany four weeks ago.

McStea left Tuesday night, June 8, for Albany, where he stated he had letters saying his wife was in a hospital for treatment.

As manager of the Bijou theater here he made many friends, and we was regarded by all who knew him as a first-rate fellow.

McStea Known in New Orleans.

New Orleans, June 15.—John V. McStea, who is being held in Albany, N. Y., for the killing of Arthur Brown, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., is well known in New Orleans. He acted in various capacities around the local theaters until he became manager for Blaney's Lyric theater, handling a stock company business for several years. When the Blaneys abandoned the Lyric, McStea accepted a position under Jake Wells and managed one of his theaters in the south.

COALITION MADE TO REVISE TARIFF

Democratic Bills Won't Be Defeated in the Senate.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 15.—(Special.)—Democratic tariff legislation will not be doomed to defeat in the upper branch of congress at this session, as has been generally feared.

A coalition between democrats and progressive republicans in the senate is rapidly taking shape, and will result in the passage of bills for the revision of the woolen, cotton and the iron and steel schedules.

This news became known here today, and was the occasion for jubilation.

Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, is taking the lead in these negotiations, and eleven progressives have agreed to co-operate with the democrats in the end of securing tariff reductions. So the work of a long, hard summer will not be fruitless. The administration counts upon enough votes to force through Canadian reciprocity, with the Root amendment to the wood pulp and print paper provision eliminated. This will be done by the votes of democrats and regular republicans.

The Free List Measure.

When it comes to the adoption of the free list, the progressive republicans will insist upon several amendments, but if an agreement can be reached on these, the bill will be supported as an amendment to the Canadian reciprocity pact.

Eleven of the thirteen progressives have reached the conclusion that it would be the part of discretion to aid in passing tariff bills which will effect a reduction in existing schedules.

The Underwood bill for the revision of the woolen schedule is, in the main, satisfactory to them. But they will insist that the cotton schedule be revised also.

Then there is a strong feeling upon the part of the progressives that the duties on the iron and steel schedule should be materially cut. They are framing up the program of their own and wish to know the extent of the revision that is contemplated before committing themselves to support any single schedule.

The Senate Line-up.

There are now 41 democrats in the senate, 37 regular republicans and 13 who are on occasions insurgents on measures and policies proposed by the regulars. This was the number that demanded recognition from the committee on committees as a separate organization in the republican ranks.

As a majority of the senate is 46, it only requires 5 progressives to vote with the democrats to control that body. If eleven progressives vote with the democrats, there will be six more than a majority of the senate. But it is probable that the two democratic senators from Louisiana will not be in accord with their brethren on the bills for revision of the various schedules. This would cut the majority to four, which is a bare working majority but will be effective.

CHURCH ALLIED TO SUGAR TRUST?

With this as a basis from which to get at the policy of the American Sugar Refining Company, Judge Madison questioned the witness about the first combination of sugar refineries in 1887, and combinations or acquisitions during the period Mr. Palmer was a director.

Rebates Received by Trust.

Incidentally the witness told of the rebates received by the company, claiming it had merely got its share of the rebates in the days when such were in fashion. He also defended as legitimate the company's lighterage charges on transfer of sugar shipments in New York harbor.

A description of how the competing interests were brought together in the first sugar combination in 1887 was given by Mr. Palmer. The witness said that H. O. Havemeyer came to his office to talk over sugar matters.

"He said that Searles and Theodore Havemeyer were 'crazy' to go into a combination," declared Mr. Palmer. "He said he was not so 'crazy' unless he could get the Harrisons, of Philadelphia—the Harrisons were keen sugar men—and Captain Thomas, of Boston, a very wealthy man, worth, say, about $30,000,000 or $40,000,000, and president of the Standard Sugar Refining Company at Boston, to go into it with him. He said Theodore would try to get the Harrisons, and he offered to give me $100,000 if I would get Captain Thomas in."

Objected to Havemeyer.

"Did you get him?" inquired Representative Madison.

"I went up and spent the afternoon with Captain Thomas," continued the witness. "His objection was H. O. Havemeyer. He said he thought he could get along with Searles and Theodore, but was not so sure about H. O. I told him that H. O. was the best man of the three. Finally he came in."

"Did H. O. tell you what the object of the combination was?"

"No, he never talked much."

Judge Madison questioned the witness concerning the formation of the National Sugar Refining Company, of New Jersey.

"It was organized to buy four companies," said the witness. "Mr. Havemeyer told me he had organized it with his own money and a little he had got from the National City Bank."

"Were not these companies competing?"

"Yes, I think they were."

The witness said the American company procured a majority of the preferred stock of the National, but when the question of the legality of the common stock of the National came up, the witness said that there he and H. O. Havemeyer broke.

"Havemeyer brought up before the board of directors of the American the question of the purchase of the common stock of the National and said he could not vote for the purchase because he was interested in the stock," said Mr. Palmer. "I was not in favor of the purchase. We never had much to do with one another after that."

In the Havemeyer Family.

Representative Maiby wanted to know if the common stock of the National was issued at the same time the preferred was.

"I do not know anything about that except what Mr. Havemeyer told me."

"What did he tell you?"

"I asked him what had been done with the common stock and he replied it was in the hands of friends and he would see me later about it."

"Then you did not have anything, information or knowledge, as to how Mr. Havemeyer acquired it?"

"No sir."

"Do you know where the stock now is?"

"Why I understand that $7,600,000 value of it is in the Havemeyer family."

"Do you know whether any money or whether valuable consideration was ever paid by Mr. Havemeyer or members of his family for the issuing of this stock?"

"I don't know anything about that."

Congressman Maiby, in connection with the discussion of the issuance of the famous $10,000,000 common stock, asked about the issuance of the $50,000,000 of stock by the American Sugar Renning Company, of which it had been said only $42,000,000 had been used in the purchase of plants.

"Have you any knowledge of what became of the $8,000,000 not so used?" inquired Mr. Maiby.

"None whatever."

The witness said he believed the stock had been watered, but how much he was not willing to estimate.

Rounding Up Beet Sugar Plants.

Another section of the examination related to the beet sugar industry. Mr. Palmer was a member of an American Sugar Company committee appointed to investigate beet sugar refineries.

"Mr. Willets, representing a trade paper, made a trip through the west," explained Mr. Palmer, "and when he came back he told me the beet sugar refineries were making sugar at less than we had thought they could. I had him go the next day to talk with Havemeyer. The result was appointment of a committee to buy."

Mr. Palmer added that Mr. Willets was sent out to "round up" the beet sugar people. Mr. Cutler came on from Utah and as a result of the "round up" the first purchase was made.

"It was a big question in those days," added Mr. Palmer, "whether we could get the beets grown and I was in favor of purchasing from the Mormons first, because I thought the Mormons could control their people."

"Oh, there has been the statement that there was an alliance between the American Sugar Refining Company and the Mormon church," said Judge Madison. "Tell us about that. Wasn't Cutler a bishop or something in the Mormon church?"

"I don't know."

"We will believe that. Wasn't Joseph F. Smith, the head of the church, consulted?"

"No, not that I know of. We dealt with Cutler."

The witness told of purchases in Colorado, Michigan and California, admitting that the refineries purchased were at times competing with the American, but said he went out of the company before the consolidation of the beet sugar refineries took place.

Representative Fordney asked Mr Palmer if the beet sugar industry could survive without a protective tariff.

"It would be pretty close sailing," was the reply.

Telling the Trouble by Mail

WHAT I told a gentleman some time ago in a letter I want to tell again. He was one of those who had been fooled by quacks and fakers into believing that all the ills of humanity could be diagnosed and cured by mail. So I explained differently to him. I pointed out that I was not in the mail order medicine-selling business. I also explained that that which I had to sell was my medical ability and knowledge—ability and knowledge acquired by more than a third of a century of specializing in the diseases of men, chronic diseases and nervous disorders. Because it was my ability to relieve suffering and the scientific knowledge I had to sell, I did not make a practice of diagnosing cases by mail. There is considerable difference between one who sells medicines and one who sells his scientific knowledge. If a patient KNOWS what is troubling him and tells me, I might be able to relieve him by giving certain remedies. But if he DOESN'T know and wants me to tell him what the trouble is without coming to see me, I do not want the case. I do not want the case for the reason that I do not believe I can help him. It is too much guesswork. And one of these days the postal authorities are going to put a stop to this sort of thing. I say I have ability to treat the diseases in which I specialize, because I KNOW them. I know them because I have been studying them and specializing in them for so long. That's why I say I can cure any case which CAN be cured. I am in my office from 8 to 7; Sundays and holidays, 10 to 1. My monographs are free by mail in plain, sealed wrapper. They are instructive, too.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

has ever thought how the work of her organization could be made more EFFICIENT and FAR-REACHING THROUGH THE AID OF NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY?

Here is a plan that perhaps will appeal to her and her associates, and which I think could be put through without much trouble.

Suppose Mrs. Nathan persuaded 500 manufacturers through the United States, who refuse to employ child labor—TO POOL THEIR ISSUES AND CONTRIBUTE from $250 to $500 each FOR A YEAR'S ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

This campaign to tell in the frankest way possible, the object of the league—convince the consumer that he or she should not buy "child labor merchandise," and then print, in conjunction with this human interest talk, the names of the reputable manufacturers who have contributed to this cause.

Such a campaign would IMPRESS DEALERS IN EVERY COMMUNITY with the importance of selling only those products manufactured by adult labor, and WOULD EDUCATE THE PUBLIC GENERALLY TO BUY THOSE PRODUCTS.

Another thing that would be important would be to announce the fact that the products of these reliable manufacturers are not made in sweatshops and for that reason, they do not carry with them any disease germs.

Such an advertising campaign would not only increase the power of Mrs. Nathan's organization, but would bring ADDED BUSINESS TO THE REPUTABLE MANUFACTURERS CONTRIBUTING TO THE FUND.
